Hi Meredith,

Thank you very much for reaching out and letting us know that this comment period has started. We are requesting an extension to the June 2nd deadline so that our team has both the time and capacity to review and submit the best possible comments.

Please let me know if there's a better outlet than email through which to request the extension!

Thank you!

Sincerely,
Yaya

The site is in Seattle's Georgetown neighborhood near the King County International Airport on the banks of the Lower Duwamish Waterway. Since the early 1900s, the area was used for a variety of industrial and manufacturing activities, including sawmill operations and pipe and chain manufacturing. These activities have contributed to the contamination at the site.

You can learn more about the site and read the document available for public comment by visiting the Crowley Marine Services webpage. If you can't make it to a meeting, reach out to me, or Crowley Marine's Site Manager, Beau Johnson, (206) 638-0816, via phone or email. We are always happy to answer any questions or concerns you may have and help you submit comments.
