Appended below are the names of 19,237 individuals who have submitted public comments urging the Washington Department of Ecology to deny Millennium's Section 401 Water Quality Certification. In addition to signing on in support of the following letter, 4,315 individuals of the total number have submitted personalized comments. The personalized comments start on page 2 and end on page 251.

RE: Millennium Bulk Terminals Longview - Coal Export Terminal - Section 401 Water Quality Certification

Dear Washington Department of Ecology:

I urge Ecology to protect water quality in the Columbia River and countless streams and rivers that would be harmed by Millennium's coal trains. Ecology has received unprecedented expert testimony from Tribes, state and federal agencies, impacted communities, and the people of the Pacific Northwest to deny Millennium's proposal. Based on this record, we urge Ecology to deny the 401 certification.

Ecology must deny the 401 certification because Millennium's project would violate Washington State's water quality standards, harm designated uses, and contravene the state's Antidegradation Policy.

The project also flies in the face of our region's commitment to combat the devastating impacts of climate change. Millennium's oversized ambitions to rebrand the Pacific Northwest the coal export capital of the United States conflict with the public interest in thriving local economies, clean water, clean energy, and healthy communities.

Sincerely,

The Undersigned

David And Ann Cordero
Longview, WA 98632-3529

As residents of Longview we urge you to protect water quality and salmon in the Columbia River and stop this project which would lead to pollution from the coal transported to Millenium Bulk Terminals.

Judy Pigott
Seattle, WA 98116

Bringing coal to Longview is short-term stupid. The water quality is so very likely to suffer. The jobs will be filled only partly by folks from the area. And coal extraction, even on the other side of our earth, hurts us all through its polluting effects. Don't do it!

Linda Feletar
Vancouver, WA 98664-4122

As a resident of Vancouver Washington I am vehemently opposed to an oil terminal in our Port anywhere on our beautiful waterways and shores. And a coal terminal is just as bad...let's work to eliminate fossil fuel altogether and save this planet!

Sara Bhakti
Kirkland, WA 98033-4239

A coal terminal in my backyard - but in anyone's backyard - I terrible idea. Washington State strives to be a leader in the green economy. We oppose anything that aids the continuation of using fossil fuels for energy. Think of the earth and do what supports the environment and addresses the serious issue of global warming.

Douglas Holbrook
Lincoln City, OR 97367-2723

As a resident of Oregon, who enjoys and recreates on the Columbia River, as well as other rivers in Washington and Oregon, I am alarmed at the idea the Washington Department of Ecology could conceivably issue a permit that would endanger these critical resources by approving the Millenium Bulk Terminal for Longview, Washington. Most people don't know a permit like this is a license to pollute their forests and waterways. I do, and I urge the Department to not issue a permit for this proposed coal export terminal.

Lynnette Chiotti
Saint Helens, OR 97051-1130

As a resident just across the Columbia River, I strongly oppose siting a bulk terminal in Longview. The coal dust alone will impact local air quality. Both my husband and myself have asthma and breathing difficulties will result from any coal dust blowing when the prevailing winds shift direction.

Jason Reynolds
Portland, OR 97211-2628

As a Northwest resident concerned with the health of the Columbia River Ecosystem, I urge you to reject this proposal in consideration of our children.

The Rev. Mary Louise Allen
Ocean View, DE 19970-2916

As someone who lived in Longview and the Columbia River are for many years I totally oppose the pollution and risk this coal export terminal would create! Stop! Stop! Stop!

Barbara Bonfield
Tacoma, WA 98407-2515

I want a clean environment!

Charles Hitchin
Vashon, WA 98070-0053

...to the coal companies, STOP EXPORTING YOUR TOXIC PRODUCT FOR YOU PERSONAL ENRICHMENT!

Julie Engstrom
Coupeville, WA 98239-3009

A big NO to this project. The Pacific NW is a wonderful place to live and the pollution by your company will not work here. This terminal must never be built.

Julia Glover
Clinton, WA 98236-8814

*A coal terminal? When coal is already obsolete, not cost-effective, and so harmful to the environment?
Don't do it!!!!*

Mary Ferm
Bainbridge Is, WA 98110-4538

A large percentage of California smog is due to burning coal in Asia. Coal pollution comes back to us even from across the Pacific.

Mickie Stewart
Renton, WA 98058-6079

Absolutely not in Washington. Absolutely not in the USA. Absolutely not on mother earth. Stop the proliferation of coal in 2017.

John Gieser
Seattle, WA 98117-4420

Adding to global warming will cost us all in the end, so I'm asking for you to stopped this for the future of everyone. Thank you

Christopher Pringer
Seattle, WA 98107

Again, I sign yet again, another petition or letter or statement, and will continue until enough is realized as enough... Stop this unnecessary and dangerous use of coal. Please!

Carter Davis
Bellingham, WA 98229-7706

All the coal that they burn will just blow this way with the wind. We can do better than this.

Susan E. Leinbach
Pt. Townsend, WA 98368

Also, when coal is burned in Asia the it is returned to us as air pollution and we in the pacific northwest are right in its path. Eschew short term greed for real, sustainable jobs ia a healthy environment.

Meryle A. Korn
Bellingham, WA 98226

Although I have previously written to address this subject, I feel I must keep writing to the DoE until the Millennium Bulk Terminals Longview is rejected with no further options to appeal.

Mike Mccowen
Spanaway, WA 98387-7972

America can't burn coal, but we can sell it to China to pollute the air and undermine our economy? NO!

Virginia Linstrom
Lacey, WA 98503

America needs to support alternative new energy sources, not dirty coal!!!!

Dennis Sullivan
Oak Harbor, WA 98277-4556

And what makes this a sound decision?

Kim Figlar-barnes
Elma, WA 98541-1946

Approving this terminal would put people in harm's way along the entire rail route to Longview, Wa. The open coal cars would be spewing coal dust into neighborhoods, farmlands, forests and rivers. This will cause severe impacts to human and environmental health. Please oppose these terminals.

Alexis Z

Shelton, WA 98584-8889

As a lifelong resident of Southwest Washington and now the Puget Sound I give a resounding "NO!" to any coal export terminal in Washington state.

Polly Freeman

Seattle, WA 98107

As a mom and a love of our beautiful planet, I urge you to oppose the Millennium Longview project. Coal dust in the Columbia and increased climate disruption, no thank you!

Jim Kalberer

Omak, WA 98841-1085

As a previous resident of Portland, Oregon and now a Washington State resident I strongly urge you to put a stop to this land, water and people degradation attempt.

Helen Curtis

Spokane, WA 99208-5930

As a resident of the state of Washington, I do not want to see this giant terminal built at Longview. Transporting coal through the middle of my town presents health and safety hazards. Sending the coal to Asia would only contribute to more greenhouse gas being released into the air. For many important reasons, this project needs to be terminated without approval.

Rebecca Buell

Yakima, WA 98902-4921

As a resident of this beautiful state I want it to stay the way it is unsullied by dirty coal.

Paul Elder

Bellevue, WA 98006

As a resident of Washinton State, preserving our clean water and air is vitally important. As a resident of the global community, preventing further global warming is vitally important. This coal terminal should not be built for these reasons. Let's look to the future with clean and renewable sources of power- coal is a dirty fuel of the past.

Sally King

Lynnwood, WA 98036

As a Washington resident I oppose the current proposal for an export terminal in LongView. Protecting the health of the land, water, fish, wildlife and tribal trust resources is priority at this time of climate change. Our state needs to take leadership as a progressive environmental state and demonstrate wise decisions based on 2017 technologies and possibilities for a healthy future. Say no to this terminal. Invest in the well being of this state's future.

Rick Grass

Des Moines, WA 98198-6939

As a Washington state resident and someone familiar with the Longview area and "roll on Columbia"... I can testify that this is bad/wrong for the city, the area, the state, the nation and the earth.

Heather Macclintock

Seattle, WA 98199-2718

As a Washington State resident and parent of a young child, I am adamantly opposed to this proposed coal terminal. From its production to transport to burning, coal harms people. We have a responsibility to protect our people, and shipping 40 tons of dirty fuel per year is the opposite of responsible. Please veto this project.

Sonja Hinz

Bellingham, WA 98225-2212

As a Washington State resident, I strongly oppose the shipment of more coal through my state. I believe we should be working, instead, towards building a sustainable energy future.

Susan Burnett

Seattle, WA 98105-5519

As far as I am concerned, this is criminal. Washington and Oregon do not want coal brought by train or barge to the Pacific Northwest. This is wrong-headed and the dept. of Ecology should NOT advance a permit for this terminal. This is our country and our state. We do not want coal!

Kevin Jones

Vashon, WA 98070-2607

As you know, climate change is the primary existential threat to our population. Protect us by taking action to stop this export terminal and keep fossil fuels in the ground where they can do no further damage.

Melissa Roberts

Seattle, WA 98102-5748

At a time when doing what is right for the earth, our children, humanity is unpopular, I want to encourage the department of ecology to be a champion, to do whats right, to deny 401 certification. Please take this step to help us keep water drinkable and our environment safe - thank you in advance!

Amy Swanson

Kent, WA 98030-8510

At this time we need to be looking for and investing in alternative energy not perpetuating an environmentally hazardous coal industry. We in Washington are so blessed to have such a gorgeous environment in which to live. Please protect the land, air and water that is our home.

Charlene Miller

South Colby, WA 98384-0334

Backward action. Stop this insanity in order to protect our climate and our future generations!!!

Wes Gallagher

Renton, WA 98059-5181

Building a coal shipping terminal is like constructing a barn for housing horses to support the horse and buggy defunct industry. Why would anybody invest in coal terminals in today's clean energy growth, sheer madness and stupidity.

Jennifer Calvert

Spokane Valley, WA 99206-3122

Building a coal terminal is the absolutely wrong direction for us to take at this moment in time. We need to phase out coal, and work on wind and solar and other renewables instead.

Mary Bicknell

Seattle, WA 98105-2320

Building a terminal to ship coal. 1. It will pollute waterways. 2. Coal must be replaced by sustainable energy sources by all countries. 3. Coal is a huge contributor to green house gases. We must stop the earth from getting any warmer. Refuse This Permit

Alexandra Tufnell

Bothell, WA 98021-8855

Building the largest coal export terminal is against the well being of everyone and everything except the profits of the privileged few.

Ron Conway

Marysville, WA 98271

Burning coal harms the environment and cause many health problems.

Joan Reberger
Camano Island, WA 98282-7383

Burning coal is a giant step backwards. Transporting it isn't any better. This is an irresponsible, short-sighted move. Let us just NOT pass on a poisonous destroyed environment.

Laura Kelly
Washougal, WA 98671

Clean energy is the only possibility for our children's future on our earth. Please don't approve these terminals and invest in a sustainable energy instead , for all Americans!

Ruth Hooper
Seattle, WA 98118

Clean water is crucial!

Ginny Shulman
Seattle, WA 98115-4919

Coal & coal dust are harmful to all of us, the environment, but most importantly our children & grandchildren.

Bruce Anderson
Everett, WA 98208-3519

Coal can no longer be a source of energy because the world environment cannot sustain its toxic emissions. China will end its use of coal soon, meaning this export facility, if built, will no longer be profitable for our energy producers. Do not contribute to this totally unwise venture! End ALL fossil fuel subsidies NOW!!

Paula Weisman
Renton, WA 98058

Coal dust kills. We need to transition to alternative energy.

Beth Call
Walla Walla, WA 99362

Coal dust threatens everyone along the way as it is being transported, and threatens the whole world when it is burned by contributing to global warming

Tracie Lindgren-rakus
Duvall, WA 98019

COAL HAS NO PLACE AS A SOURCE OF FUTURE ENERGY. IT SHOULD BE PHASED OUT NOT EXPANDED. ALL INVESTMENTS OF $, TIME, HUMAN RESOURCES SHOULD SUPPORT CLEAN ENERGY!

Lynne Roberson
Port Angeles, WA 98363-9776

Coal has seen its day as a power source. We must embrace the inevitable advance toward cleaner power sources now.

Alexander Wright
Concrete, WA 98237-0689

Coal interests believe that if a coal infrastructure is built we will be forced to use it. But coal has no long term future., and when it's use is eventually abandoned who will pay to remove the obsolete infrastructure.

Bruce Walton
Olympia, WA 98508

Coal is a dinosaur way to produce energy. Please choose cleaner methods to save our Earth. Thank you.

JO Turpin
Vancouver, WA 98683

Coal is a dying form of energy and putting more money into coal and the infrastructure it requires is a waste of time and money. Please use our resources to build renewable energy sources and infrastructure.

Vicky Miller
Edmonds, WA 98026-9207

Coal is a filthy, dirty substance that pollutes the air, the water and the food we eat. The United States needs to move forward clean burning and solar energy.

Renee Ahlbrecht
Lakewood, WA 98498-3694

Coal is an antiquated energy source. The fallout from its mining and usage has disastrous effects on our planet's ecosystems. We need to drop the use of this dirty, old resource and develop more clean sources of energy. Please do not allow coal terminals in Washington state!

Melissa Kokaly
Seattle, WA 98115

Coal is an dirty energy resource that is part of our country's past not future...please stop the Millenium Longview Terminal project!

Kirsten Morton
Snohomish, WA 98296-3972

Coal is an outdated technology that is completely at odds with the values of this state. It's just not worth the risk when there are newer, cleaner, safer options. Please deny the 401 certification and help block the construction of this terminal. Thank you for your consideration of my letter and the many others like it.

Malcolm Booth
Seattle, WA 98118-1772

Coal is ancient technology. Leave the stuff in the ground where it belongs.

Karen Burd
Tacoma, WA 98422-1348

Coal is dangerous in any situation.

Alisha Leviten
Shoreline, WA 98155-6018

coal is dangerous, polluting, and a limited resource. no coal export terminal! stop endangering our communities now!

Kathryn Rathke
Seattle, WA 98108

Coal is killing us! Even the Chinese recognize this is a terrible, highly destructive way to produce energy. No new coal terminal, please!

Christina Davis
Spanaway, WA 98387-4023

coal is no longer a viable energy source. our president has already embarrassed us by pulling our of the Paris climate agreement. we cannot contribute the global pollution by shipping it elsewhere!

Karen Rogers
Vashon, WA 98070

Coal is not needed. It contributes to pollution, climate change, and potential damage to communities along the train routes and export terminal. We do not want it. Keep coal in the ground.

Rosemary Rognstad
Shoreline, WA 98133-2962

Coal is not the answer we can Not continue to cover our state with coal dust! Only to make more of us sick! We do not need to export any coal way way to dirty! Stop the terminal now! Thank you

Nellie Korn

Bellingham, WA 98226-4112

Coal is not the future, and demand for coal will only decrease as China and the rest of the world convert to cleaner renewable technologies. Washington does not need the pollution this project will bring, nor does it need jobs that will disappear as demand for coal shrinks. We don't need the toxic waste cleanup expense for this site once lack of demand shuts this proposed terminal. We don't need the cleanup expense for the Columbia, and for the lands along the tracks which bring the coal to the terminal. This terminal is a bad deal for the environment and for the economy of Washington.

Dorothy Jordan

Lynden, WA 98264-9401

Coal is obsolete and devastating to the environment. I strongly oppose the Millenium coal port in Longview.

Charlotte Benson

Kirkland, WA 98083-2234

Coal is on it's way out Why do this to our environment ?

Linda Carroll

Spokane, WA 99205

Coal is one of the principal contributors to global warming. We need to replace it with clean renewables.

Jared Macrobb

Stanwood, WA 98292

Coal is outdated and quickly being replaced by more sustainable and renewable sources. Instead of spending money trying to revitalize a dying field, train your employess to maintain solar, wind, hydro, geo, nuclear, etc, and transition your company in that direction. Lead the change.

Sarah Lenoir

White Salmon, WA 98672

Coal is outdated. No need for a terminal. Just leave the coal in the ground. Why should we e port coal and promote air polution in developing countries.....?

Hazel Hardiman

Seattle, WA 98109-0863

Coal is SO bad and should not only NOT be mined, should certainly NOT BE EXPORTED - we all live on the same planet and must protect it.

Terrie Houghton

Hoodspport, WA 98548

Coal is so old news. Even China doesn't want it, leave it in the ground. Do not export coal.

Jamie K. Donaldson

Bellingham, WA 98225-6620

Coal is soooooo 20th century. The market is collapsing, burning it destroys the environment, it creates few jobs. NO more fossil fuel infrastructure.

Linda Minard

Auburn, WA 98092-9328

Coal is taking a step backwards in time as far as clean air is concerned

Victorie Mark

Seattle, WA 98125-4525

COAL IS THE PAST. WE NEED LESS AND LESS OF IT. WE DON'T NEED OR WANT A "COAL EXPORT TERMINAL" IN LONGVIEW, WASHINGTON! AND CLIMATE CHANGE IS REAL!!

Lyssa Danehy Dehart

Bainbridge Island, WA 98110-2281

Coal is the past. When will we turn our faces to the future and clean energy? Please stop supporting what's unhealthy for us and the planet.

Jennifer Pittman
Issaquah, WA 98027-8259

Coal is yesterday. Renewable energy is today. While coal provided jobs and power it's time to find an alternative. This project isn't good for anyone or anything. Please don't support it.

Steve Knutzen
Arlington, WA 98223

Coal kills people. Coal is destabilizing the atmosphere, which is now in crisis causing climate change and poisoning all life on earth. Shipping coal to other countrys is like cutting our own throats. Do not allow this project to go on.

Janet Clark
Concrete, WA 98237-7714

Coal needs to be a dead resource

Jesse Mallory
Kennewick, WA 993373927

Coal needs to go away. Renewable energy is what we want. This coal terminal is dangerous and not needed.

Lila Rhodes
Lynnwood, WA 98036

Coal shipping amounts to inventing the 20th century.

Clif Trolin
Port Townsend, WA 98368-0199

Coal trains spread pollution wherever they go, and to ship coal and use coal in this time of climate change is wrong.

Elizabeth A Heath
Seattle, WA 98106-3228

Coal usage on decline; coal is a dying industry and for good reasons. Now is not the time to support wealthy owners and stockholders to sent our dirty product to others. Do not permit this project to go forward.

Joann Keenan
Seattle, WA 98125

Coal will never be a clean energy source. It is not safe to mine or to transport. And with so many energy alternatives, we don't need it.

Brian Mathews
Shoreline, WA 98177-2518

Coal, oil anything that can poison and kill has no business traveling next to or over water like it does from Portland to British Columbia. Unsafe cargo, unsafe trains with no covers are already spewing coal dust over the shoreline and homes.

Ralph Becker
Edmonds, WA 98026-4916

Cover the coal, or take it elsewhere.

Enough of exploitation of this land, it needs to stop now! We can prevent later lamentations, like we are lamenting all the damage that has been done to the Americas since the colonization started, hundreds of years ago, but the elites greed still going. We can't afford it any longer.

Debra Wolfley
Port Orchard, WA 98367-7524

Enough! We've said no loud and clear, for so long, and they keep coming back! We don't want this filthy business in our state! Do they think they can wear us down with their persistence? We see you! We notice! NOTHING for another country is worth the risk to our people or our environment.

Jill Hein

Even China is rejecting coal - what's the matter with the US? There's no market for it anymore - get a trip you guys, say NO to coal.

Constance Ogata

Pasco, WA 99301-2182

Everything about coal mining is bad for our earth!!! Washington and many other states have rich resources that can be and have been damaged by coal. Please protect our world and its people by stopping the mining and movement of coal. Thank you.

Scott Davis

Burien, WA 98146-2456

Exporting Coal will not help climate change. Environmentally, the process itself is dangerous. Say no.

Kindy Kemp

Port Townsend, WA 98368-9686

Exporting coal would be a huge step backwards, detrimental to not only our region, but to the global environment as well. It is the height of absurdity and venality to pursue fossil fuel extraction now when we should be transitioning to more efficient, less harmful energy sources.

Martin Cayford

Snohomish, WA 98290-5615

Extraction exports like coal or of little value to the US but of high negative impact. We do NOT want this port in our state!

Roger Martin

University Place, WA 98466-4416

First, I live just up the hill where the passenger train recently derailed in Steilacoom WA. This is my town, and I don't like it. Now, imagine if that train were loaded with oil or coal. There was a track worker who jumped into the water to avoid being hit by that train. Water? Yup. Where that train derailed is right where a creek comes into the Puget Sound. The coal trains go through that area now. That shows how susceptible this whole thing is to accidents that can damage the natural world around us, including the fishing that goes on at that same intersection of the creek and the Sound. Supposedly, this coal would go to Japan and South Korea. Japan is now worried about nuclear reactors because of Fukushima.

Reasonable, except that the Fukushima reactors were built based on old technology. Modern nuclear reactors are no longer built like that, and the sort of accident that happened at Fukushima can't happen with any new reactor that would be built with the now-available small nuclear-reactor (SNR) technology.

If Japan is more tied to old memories than to current technology, we should not be paying the price for their past (Fukushima danger) and present (SNR) ignorance. Stop this coal port. It is more dangerous than it is beneficial.

Maryann Mason

Shoreline, WA 98177-2803

For safety, do not build the coal export terminal.

Carolyn Treadway

Lacey, WA 98503-2561

For survival of current species on Earth, ALL fossil fuels must REMAIN IN THE GROUND!!! No coal extraction! No coal export!

Chris Kanit Cottrell

Seattle, WA 98136

Fossil fuels are a bad investment. Renewable energy is the only option to preserve a livable planet.

Building fossil fuel infrastructure is insane!

Carlos Andersen

Freeland, WA 98249-9577

Fossil fuels are dead. Minimal jobs come from handling coal yet environmental impacts are huge. Kill the coal.

Robert Johnston

Bellingham, WA 98225

Fossil fuels are not the future. Clean water and a clean environment are way more important. Coal export from the Pacific Coast is a losing game. External costs to the public in the form of contamination of the environment and damage to fishing, tourism, and public health far outweigh the economic gains for a few people who don't care about everybody else.

Annie Peterson

Lake Stevens, WA 98258-1610

Fossil fuels should remain in the ground and we should move on to 21st century sources of energy NOW and not compromise our international environment by encouraging other countries to remain fossil fuel dependent...

Tom Strawman

Anacortes, WA 98221-8350

Given the global will to cut fossil-fuel emissions that pollute the atmosphere with planet-warming gases, it is time to leave fossil fuels in the ground. Building a new coal export terminal will extend the viability of coal extraction and coal-burning for many more decades to come. I think we must draw a line today: no more dirty fuels dug or burned if there are good alternatives. Those alternatives are available today. Let's put our infrastructure dollars into support of non-fossil-fuel energies. Thank you for your consideration.

Shirley Campbell

Seattle, WA 98103-5631

Global warming is happening and nothing is worse for greenhouse gas pollution than coal. Please don't pollute our water with coal dust and don't pollute our earth with more CO2.

L Parker

How do we make America energy independent if we are shipping coal to Asia. Coal dust is spilt everywhere from these open trains and they cause massive disruption to downtown traffic.

Claudia Srok

Ione, WA 99139-0453

How silly to build this to continue polluting. Stop this!!

Esther Coyle

Walla Walla, WA 99362

I a citizen of Washington State do not want coal to be exported out of Longview. I vote the 401 certification be denied! I love our beautiful state and want all the fish and wildlife to remain as such!

Doniella Boaz

Lake Forest Park, WA 98155-2958

I absolutely want this to stop before it begins. This is dirty air being promoted by the USA. We must not be a part of polluting our planet.

Amy Nesler

Friday Harbor, WA 98250

I am a resident of San Juan County and the Salish Sea whose tourism-based economy and quality of life rely on the culturally significant and federally listed-as-endangered Southern Resident Killer Whales. I am concerned about the potential impacts from the proposed Millennium Bulk Terminals coal export project on the health of the orca whales that spend time at the mouth of the Columbia River where they feed on upper Columbia and Snake River Chinook salmon (also listed as endangered). These salmon rely on clean rivers and streams for survival, therefore I am asking that you please deny Section 401 Water Quality Certification for this project. Thank you.

Scott Veirs

Seattle, WA 98115

I am a resident of Seattle within the Salish Sea whose tourism-based economy and quality of life rely on the culturally significant and federally listed-as-endangered Southern Resident Killer Whales. I am concerned about the potential impacts from the proposed Millennium Bulk Terminals coal export project on the health of the orca whales that spend time at the mouth of the Columbia River where they feed on upper Columbia and Snake River Chinook salmon (also listed as endangered). These salmon rely on clean rivers and streams for survival, therefore I am asking that you please deny Section 401 Water Quality Certification for this project. Thank you.

Sara Fisher

Seattle, WA 98103-3680

I am a Washington State resident. Please stand against the building of Millennium's coal export terminal. It is not worth endangering our water, wildlife, and air with pollution. Moreover, burning coal for fuel is a huge source of CO2 emissions. We should be transitioning away from using coal for fuel, not encouraging its use with a brand new export terminal.

Kevin Chiu

Seattle, WA 98115-3913

I am a young man in his mid 20s, with many friends around that age. I have cousins who are in elementary school, and several of my friends have kids of their own. We will very likely live to see the calamitous impacts of climate change -- rising temperatures and sea levels, along with the agricultural and economic destruction they will cause -- should they go unmitigated. I do not want myself, my friends, my family, or anyone else to suffer. We cannot ignore what the vast majority of scientists have been warning us about for years any longer.

Jon Quitslund

Bainbridge Is, WA 98110-2002

I am convinced that this huge export terminal would be destructive on a grand scale, first in the mining that would be required to supply its quotas, and then in the pollution caused by burning the coal -- and incidentally, in the fuel consumption involved in transport. It's really crazy. Where is the benefit, offsetting the enormous costs?

June Lindsey

Mercer Island, WA 98040-5632

I am extremely worried about climate change. so is China. We don't need to fuel their fires, even they will not want our coal soon.

Louis Leggett

Oak Harbor, WA 98277

I am opposed to a coal terminal in Longview Wa or any place in our pristine state, why add more pollution to the Columbia or our water ways ,STOP and think air pollution kills people

Pat Vulk
Issaquah, WA 98027

I am opposed to the coal export terminal.

Elinor Gannon
Seattle, WA 98121-2121

I am opposed to this for both personal health and environmental reasons!

Frankl Kroger
Seattle, WA 98122-5621

I am retired longshore man from ILWU local 19, Seattle.

Carol Stanley
Redmond, WA 98052-1974

I as well have significant concerns regarding the foreseeable impacts of the Millennium Longview Coal Terminal project and and want the plans for the Millennium Longview Coal Terminal to be stopped. Not in Washington State, please!

Joy Gardner
Edmonds, WA 98026-7217

I ask that you honor the water quality of the Columbia River by not allowing the Millennium Bulk Terminal and their coal trains to pollute the streams and rivers that will carry this pollution throughout the Pacific Northwest. Deny the 401 certification.

Janene Whitney
Camano Island, WA 98282-8603

I cannot imagine why a governor or state senators who say they will support climate change legislation would then allow this! Are we always about money in the end? Washington State needs to stand up for the environment now. California did!

Ms. Wigutoff Wigutoff
Seattle, WA 98125-4086

I cannot understand why in the world this would be anything but a no-brained. Do NOT permit this project to proceed.

Sheila Maseda-gille
Duvall, WA 98019

I do not want this permit approved. This will only benefit coal companies from out of state who want to ship their toxic "product" overseas at the expense of our environment & the health of our citizens. There is no reason on earth why we should ever agree to go ahead with this polluting project. JUST SAY NO.

Thanks

Marilyn Subala
Redmond, WA 98052-3261

I don't know why I have to tell you that shipping millions of tons of coal to Asia is a very bad idea. I encourage you to protect Washington's greatest assets, and deny this permit and prevent this dangerous project from going forward.

Vickie Woo
Seattle, WA 98121-3304

I DON'T WANT THIS IN MY STATE! I don't want this in any state in the union. Coal is filthy, carbon-intensive, greenhouse gas-producing, which will wreak havoc on our already fragile environment. We should focus on renewable energy sources. The opposition to this terminal is real. Don't let this terminal happen.

Nancy Lehman
Sammamish, WA 98075-7134

I don't want to see the coal moved thru WA state to a shipping processing in Longview WA, I don't want to see WA participating in any way in dirty coal. Let's have WA go as green and as clean renewable energy as we can. No participation with Coal. Coal dust coming across our state is also a health risk for all of us

David Mayer
Olympia, WA 98502

I feel we need to stop the continued exploitation of carbon-based energy resources NOW. No more new mines, no more exploration, no new export terminals. I say 'Yes!' to the development of more sustainable sources of energy.

Deneen Peckinpah
Seattle, WA 98122-4123

I find it ridiculous that we even consider jeopardizing the health and well-being of people here in the US in order to ship coal to Asia. Please, wake up and start acting in our interests here.

Jean Beary-stolle
Vancouver, WA 98686-5750

I grew up in Montana's coal producing region. I know the industry has created many jobs in the past. That was the past! Coal is no longer essential for jobs and detrimental at every phase of its production and use. I now live in southern Washington. It would not boost our economy and the detriment to the environment, people and air is not justified. Let's look to the future, save our planet and move in different directions other than coal!

Mary Jo Dugaw
Fall City, WA 98024-1257

I grew up in the area proposed, so I am very familiar with the ecosystem. The rich and varied Columbia River environment would be at grave risk.

Michelle Fairrow
Langley, WA 98260-8028

I grew up on the Puget sound. I remember when Dixie Lee Rae became governor and opened the sound up to tankers. Everything changed overnight. Minor oil spills left beaches covered in black and stinking of dead stuff. Much of what sea life unique to our area disappeared. The papers and news reported there had been no harm? We, the children of the area were seeing the reality and wondering why the adults who protected us had been lying. We also wondered if what we were seeing was not harmful, what was? It was incredibly frightening and sad. Environmentally, we are being challenged simply by the growing population why is WA being asked to also risk it's most valued assets for an outdated energy source that has historically left it's footprint on communities time and time again in a negative way of devastation..dead, sickly and dying people in the path of devastation and loss of most valuable assets, non renewable resources, air and water?

Kim Mack
Shelton, WA 98584-7833

I have lived by railroad tracks in VA. hauling coal and along the side of those tracks was coal that had fallen out, it was in most places. This is the Evergreen State, let's keep it that way, green, not coal black.

Jane Cunningham
Spokane, WA 99223-4999

I have nine grandchildren and I can't see their future being burdened by worse climate warming brought about by more burning of coal with its deadly emissions. Put money to help coal workers get other jobs that are healthier also. It is less expensive all things considered to replace coal with alternate kinds of energy and the right thing to do!

Carolyn Rodenberg

Seattle, WA 98119

I have seen the coal dust left by the side of the tracks after a coal train has gone by. Dirty, heavy, not something you want to be breathing, or have any one you care about breathe. Stop this coal terminal...protect our human health and that of the salmon and other animals that depend on clean air and water.

Pamela Lehto

Longview, WA 98632

I live in Longview, the trauma to the Longview community just to get the trains to the terminal would mess up traffic all day, what will all that coal dust do to the Columbia River and the fish down river. Under the current Trump administration the EPA is being dismantled for this very reason. To let big industry come in and pollute where ever they want. Shameful!

Carol Boudreau

Longview, WA 98632-9707

I live in Longview. We do not need any more dirty industries here.

Lee Ann Gekas

Olympia, WA 98506-2895

I live in SW Washington and lived in Longview for 25 years. This project will only bring pollution and health issues to the people and children of Cowlitz County. The jobs created will be short term and as we know coal is going away - so eventually we will see them walk away leaving the community to deal with the fall out. Please to not allow this permit to go through.

Lynn Clark

Tenino, WA 98589-9403

I LIVE IN THIS PRISTINE PART OF AMERICA. THOSE TRACKS ARE ONE MILE FROM MY HOME. I HAVE FISHED OUR RIVERS INCLUCING THE MIGHTY COLUMBIA AND OPPOSE POLLUTION OF ANY KIND!!! GREEDY CORPORATE MONEY-HANDS OFF WASHINGTON STATE!!!!

Gerald Webster

Vancouver, WA 98664-5428

I live in Washington State and I don't want to see thousands of coal cars come through my town! Coal dust, coal spills, etc. Don't do this!!!

Victoria Urias

Seattle, WA 98125-3705

I live in Washington State and I, and many other Pacific Northwesterners, do NOT want this Coal Export Terminal in our State! It is a disaster waiting to happen!

Linda Ball

Seattle, WA 98116-4609

I live in Washington state. This state is too beautiful to be exposed to this filth!

Lynne Dalleck

Ridgefield, WA 98642-7601

I live just a few miles from, Longview with already too much industry producing pollution, we can see it. We need to be concentrating alternate energy, not more pollution. Thank you!

Sam Mackenzie

Vancouver, WA 98661

I love the state I live in. Please do not endanger the people and environment of Washington with more fossil fuel pollution.

Alice Doyel

Seattle, WA 98144-6613

I moved to the Northwest for health reasons. Coal dust is not only detrimental to my health, but more importantly to children growing up in our beautiful Washington State.

Susan Richardson

Tumwater, WA 98512-6901

I only live about 60 miles north of Longview. We do NOT want coal in Washington. It can only provide financial gain for a few, while threatening the health of many and contaminating our land and water.

Washington said "no" to exporting coal from Whatcom County. Please say "no" to coal for Cowlitz County as well.

Lydia Marshall

Seattle, WA 98117

I oppose the construction of the Millennium Bulk Terminal in Longview. The potential for damage to the lower Columbia River ecosystem, residents quality of life and work to regenerate healthy Columbia River salmon runs is great. Please do not approve this next permit for the project.

Susanne Weil

Onalaska, WA 98570-0787

I recognize that the proposed coal export terminal would bring jobs to the Longview area. However, these are the wrong kinds of jobs for Washington. We need to invest in clean energy that will not harm our environment - a beautiful environment that, in itself, brings tourist revenue and related jobs to our region.

Sylvia Bowman

Port Townsend, WA 98368-5408

I say America First. That means a clean and healthy environment right here, not pollution.

Randall Potts

Bellingham, WA 98226-7946

I see the uncovered coal trains pass through Bellingham, polluting my community and putting public waters at risk. We do not need to destroy our shorelines to export coal, that we already know is a dangerous pollutant linked to climate change that is a national security issue as well as health and wellness. We need to protect our people, our land, our water and our fisheries. Please don't destroy what cannot be replaced with something that simply causes more problems for us all.

Nancy Engen

Edmonds, WA 98026

I strongly believe that we need to stop supporting the mining and use of coal anywhere/everywhere in the world in order to combat climate change. We need to help countries in Asia to develop alternative energies rather than feed their continued dependence on coal. Please deny the 401 certification that would support Millenium's Coal export terminal project

Mahria Zook

Edmonds, WA 98026

I think the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's statement says enough.

Bonnie Heimbigner

Spokane, WA 99224-9606

I understand the issue BUT it petrifies me that this coal export terminal will destroy our beloved Northwest; the land, fish, animals & our way of life. I don't know what the answer is BUT no matter where you put this thing, it will have negative impacts on everything around it. Maybe it should be put on an asteroid. Thank you.

Jill Meier

Snohomish, WA 98290

I urge you not to allow the Columbia River to be polluted with coal dust. Please do everything in your power to stop the construction of the largest coal export terminal of this nation and keep this project from being approved.

Jacquelyn Melton
Seattle, WA 98126

I urge you to prevent pollution of our water ways by not issuing this permit.

James Hoag
Pasco, WA 99301-6781

I would ask that you keep this whole idea completely out of the state of Washington. We really don't need any more venues to pollute our waters or our air.

V Ictoria Fairbanks
Langley, WA 98260-9707

If a child were to be told of the hazards of this project they would most certainly oppose it. Why, being of responsible age do you intentionally chose to go ahead with this? This is unconscionable. Please hold the Earth and all things living with respect and true caring. Thank you.

Geoff Cole
Vashon, WA 98070-4666

I'm opposed to exporting coal to Asia when it has no benefit to American people, only corporations; and especially opposed to massively increasing damages to the Columba River which is a national treasure.

Terry Moulton
Goldendale, WA 98620-4502

I'm opposed to exporting fossil fuels, especially coal, from Washington state. I'm also opposed to transporting the same across the state for export. I'm opposed to polluting our state to bring more pollution to China.

Andrea Hicklin
Olympia, WA 98513-5541

I'm sorry if I burst anyone's bubble, but the coal industry is a thing of the past. We can't keep pretending that it will somehow be a part of the nation's future. Building this export terminal is therefore a colossal waste of money. Don't do it.

Ron Simmons
Seattle, WA 98122

In no way does this proposed fiasco represent the people of our time.

Cathy Harris
Vancouver, WA 98683

In Vancouver, WA, we don't want an oil terminal either!!!!

James Brown
Seattle, WA 98121-1181

Invest in passive renewable energy, not coal. We don't need more pollution on the planet.

Liz Gaspar
Shelton, WA 98584-7027

It is hypocritical to ship coal from WA. We are trying so hard to end coal use here.

Carter Bannerman
Seattle, WA 98103-6565

It is not "our backyard." The atmosphere is everyone's backyard.

Susan Tochterman
Bellevue, WA 98007-6328

It is past time to keep coal in the ground, for the sake of our environment and our survival on this planet. Please deny the 401 certification for Millennium Bulk Terminals in Longview, WA. Thank you.

Dione Lee

Woodinville, WA 98077-7223

It is sad to believe that we, as a country, continue to move forward with antiquated and unsustainable initiatives to serve corporate interests and greed. It is time to lead this country toward initiatives that are self sustaining and protect our country for the greater good and a quality of life for future generations. Coal is not in the public's best interest.

Kathy Dawson
Seattle, WA 98103-5823

It is the height of arrogance and greed for this terminal to even be proposed in light of the climate crisis. It must not be allowed!

Gregry Loomis
Seattle, WA 98117-4205

It is time to diminish and eliminate coal, and not expand it! Those who continue to invest in coal production are committing a grievous sin against mankind and nature.

Charlotte Canning
Edmonds, WA 98026-5345

It is time to move into the future of renewable and non-polluting energy. Coal is not the future.

Judith Fisher
Seabeck, WA 98380-9531

It is time to reduce not add to human impact on the environment and climate change. Please cancel this project and put the effort into clean, less destructive forms of energy.

Marina Stefanovic
Bellevue, WA 98004-5514

It is time to stand up for what we believe in, do not compromise our future by supporting coal.

Charles Ardary
Everett, WA 98208-2700

It is unconscionable to abet adding more carbon dioxide into the atmosphere and thus foster global warming. This project should not be allowed to pollute water and the water permit should not be approved.

Mary McMackin
Vancouver, WA 98664-2990

Its dirty, polluting, and a health hazard, among other things. I don't want it in my beautiful state, nor anywhere else....Non-polluting renewables are the future and where we should be putting funds.

Karen Dahmer
Seattle, WA 98177-4704

it's just not worth it.

Julianne Martinson
Everett, WA 98201-1114

It's our responsibility to protect our rivers and the ocean as well as the health of people, forests, plants and animals living nearby. And we will suffer the consequences of coal being burned in Asia and causing ocean acidification and terrible health effects of air pollution.

Marta Janer Villanueva
Seattle, WA 98115-4725

It's time to address climate change and stop projects that impact negatively water quality, the environment and surrounding communities.

Derek Benedict
Lynnwood, WA 98036-8606

It's time to move away from coal and other fossil fuels, and migrate towards renewable energy. Building a coal-export terminal will only prolong the problems that CO2 exude all over this planet.

Mia Roozen
Concrete, WA 98237-9634

It's time to move to renewables for our children to have a viable future.

Thom McDonald
Seattle, WA 98103-8810

It's time to stop burning fossil fuels for energy. Clean Coal is a paradoxical phrase.

Robert Logan
Centralia, WA 98531

It's time to stop humans from destroying the planet with dirty fuels. We have the means to use clean energy sources.

Donna Hampton
Sammamish, WA 98075-4121

It's time to stop this scourge.

Richard Bisbee
Stanwood, WA 98292-9399

It's way past the time we should have stopped using coal. Cease and desist digging it up and using it to the detriment of all life.

Dorothy Chandler

Just say NO

Connie Heimburger
Kirkland, WA 98033-8540

Just say no to coal. It's so "yesterday" in terms of an energy source.

J. Eggers
Addy, WA 99101-9712

Keep Coal & Oil OUT OF OUR STATE!!!

Heinke Clark
Kirkland, WA 98033-5410

Keep coal in the ground!

Frederick Stone
Everett, WA 98208-7515

Keep fossil fuels in the ground, spend money and research on clean energy; help create a cleaner environment for all of life.

Pamela Gray
Port Townsend, WA 98368

Keep the coal in the ground and out of the river. This is no time to be encouraging burning coal!

Marjorie R
Seattle, WA 98115-3201

Keep your dirty coal out of WA State. The voters here have made clear that we want renewable energy. And we don't want our state to be the gateway to coal being shipped overseas.

Jeanne Powell
Shoreline, WA 98133-5250

Leave it in the ground!

Thomas Robinette
Kent, WA 98030

Let them spend million$ building this AND THEN SHUT IT DOWN. Lock it down. Cut the railroad lines.

Arrest anyone going in/out of there.

Kari Madrinich
Selah, WA 98942-9733

Let us work together to create new energy resources that are clean, renewable and will provide jobs. Coal is an old energy resource that needs to be left in the ground. Look to the future; be an agent of change. Instead of spending millions to support the old way, support solar, wind and geothermal energy for the USA and for the world. It's really not that hard, just look around and see where others are leading the way and follow in their footsteps. We need leaders with a vision and the courage to try something new and positive. End dirty energy. Say yes to renewable energy first!!!!

Mr. Raymond Raymond
Seattle, WA 98115-2564

Let's look forward to protecting public resources, not backward to economically benefiting a small number of people with outdated practices. Coal is very dirty.

Tamela Hansen
Seattle, WA 98816

Let's move forward to a new, clean future instead of staying in the dying past.

David Sugarman
Olympia, WA 98516-9536

Let's stop coal production and use.

Sharon Goodson
Seattle, WA 98126-3037

Let's work on ways to reduce the effects of coal usage on our planet for future generations of not only Americans but people of all nations.

Nancy Melton
Seattle, WA 98115-6564

Longview is too near the Columbia river and it seems inevitable that a spill will occur in this area. Please deny the Washington State Department of Ecology a water pollution permit for the project. I've passed Longview many times driving down the I-5 corridor and this massive project would not provide enough oversight to protect the area.

Linda Campbell
Gig Harbor, WA 98332-5108

Looks like I just THOUGHT we beat this stupid idea. Keep a sharp eye on these idiots, please. I know I can depend on you.

Peggy Shafer
Seattle, WA 98125-5902

Millennium's project would violate Washington State's water quality standards, harm designated uses, and contravene the state's Antidegradation Policy. Ecology must deny the 401 certification.

Steve Scott
Issaquah, WA 98027-8449

Mining and exporting coal is far too disruptive and destructive. This terminal should never be built.

JL Miller

My valley has had two gigantic, devastating fires in the last four years. Global warming is here, and now. This project would add to the problem. Just say no.

Lehman Holder

Vancouver, WA 98664-2411

My wife and I are strongly opposed to this proposed coal terminal. Numerous coal trains going through our city of Vancouver, WA on their way to Longview would negatively impact our quality of life. No. Coal. Terminal.

No dirty coal in Washington State!

Leslie McClure

Seattle, WA 98177-4001

No matter what the coal industry does, it is dying. Don't let them take the environment with them! They should change to sustainable fuels and keep it in the ground for our grandchildren, if not for us. Thank you!

Janet Way

Shoreline, WA 98155-7050

No more coal terminals! Stop destroying our climate to make money from China!

Joyce Kruithof

Not even Trump can rescue coal. It's day has come and gone. Let's support green energy and kill this proposal.

Audrey Adams

Renton, WA 98055-7170

Not in Washington, you don't!

Susan Dufresne

Pullman, WA 99163-3531

Not on the Columbia River. Not in Washington. Coal is the past, not the future. Don't ruin our key natural resources for a last gasp grab of greed.

Mary Keils

Shoreline, WA 98155-5808

Not sure I submitted my initial comment correctly, so here it is again. It certainly bears repeating: I am truly heartsick to think of any part of the majestic gem called the Columbia River being polluted by coal dust. The irony is not lost: we in the Pacific Northwest who rely so much on hydroelectric power would be shipping coal to further pollute a part of the world in which many are struggling to breathe. I beg the SEPA co-leads to do the sane thing and reject Millennium Bulk Terminals' request for any water pollution permit. There will certainly not be another century fit for human lives if we continue to support massive use of fossil fuels. I often wonder who will find us when we're the fossils?

Ingrid Rasch
Seattle, WA 98109-2281

Our oceans are acidifying and dying from carbon and pollution. This planet cannot survive the continued burning of coal and fossil fuels.

Mary Quistorff
Fox Island, WA 98333-0624

Our rivers and the fish in them need protection. Please do not permit this polluting facility to be built in Longview. Thank you.

Angela Amdur

our trust is in you to protect our waters for all. Thank you for the time and consideration you are putting into reading our comments.

Donna Hartwell
Covington, WA 98042-0055

Our water ways are a clear asset of Washington state and protecting them from pollution is an undeniable responsibility. They do not belong to private entities to exploit for their personal financial gain with no care to the damage their acts will cause. There will be spills and accidents because that is the nature of human activity. One major earthquake for which experts say we are overdue could cause a real catastrophe.

David Stetler

Beth Derooy

Please deny the water pollution permit allowing construction of a coal export terminal at Longview, WA. We must do everything in our power to mitigate the effects of burning coal, gas and oil. YOU have the authority as Ecologists to know this and to SAVE the PLANET. Thanks, Beth

Sunny Thompson
Ashford, WA 98304-9761

Please do all you can to stop this project. We need Longview to be proud of the part they played in switching to clean renewable energy, and we need to leave the coal in the ground. A " permit to pollute water " ?? seriously ?? Please be the heroes we need right now. Your children will be so proud of you .

Poppie Mantone
Lyle, WA 98635-9302

Please do not add to the pollution already affecting water land and people. The construction of this coal terminal will certainly lead to long lasting devastation. Our resources could be better spent developing renewable, non-polluting energy sources. Please listen to the will of the people and not the coal industry owners.

Diane Carter

Please do not allow the coal export terminal to be built. The environment is very important to us. According to my daughter in law, there is no such thing as clean coal. Stop subsidizing dirty coal and spend the taxpayer dollars on clean energy. We do not want these coal trains traveling through our town. The number of coal trains and tar sand oil tanker trains traveling through our town, in the back yards of working family homes, have increased exponentially. I urge you to protect our water quality. Do not pollute the Columbia River and all points along the way. Thank you.

Nicole Johnson
Anderson Island, WA 98303-8678

Please do not allow this coal project to pollute my home state, for an energy source that is not sustainable! Please, I urge Ecology to protect the water quality & our environment. Washington state residents (as well as the rest of the United States) deserves better representatives if they are not doing more to better our lives & future. There is no way coal is going to lead us to a prosperous, healthy future! Do the right thing! Thank you for your time.

Melinda Hirsch
Bellevue, WA 98005-1438

Please do not allow this terminal to be built. Everything about coal is archaic, and contributes immeasurably to global warming. Time to move forward. Stop global warming. Stop the terminal and all its pollution.

Tamara Wiesmann
Edmonds, WA 98026-9179

Please do not approve a project that would have adverse impacts on our local environment, particularly without substantially benefiting local residents. I want to keep our Northwest waterways safe for future generations, and this permit would endanger that. Thank you.

Molly Chachulski
Tulalip, WA 98271-6864

Please do NOT approve this project! Shipping coal through our beautiful state will cause irreparable harm to fish and wildlife - not to mention humans! Trains leave coal and coal dust strewn along the tracks. (My hiking partner and I have gathered a pile we call "coal mountain" along a 500 foot stretch of the tracks running through Index, WA. And that is from EMPTY trains going back over the shorter, steeper route!)

Marla Mccune

Elizabeth Wahbe
Bellingham, WA 98225-6410

Please respect the findings of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Based on their clear findings and the findings of other organizations, I too am deeply concerned about the impact of a coal terminal in Longview. We must protect our environment from further harm. Corporations need for profit has harmed us in so many ways already. Please don't let another environmentally harmful coal port be allowed. Coal is clearly detrimental and every study confirms its harmful effects. Lets put our energy and our future profits into solar and wind energy, not in the past toxic ways.

*RE: Millennium Bulk Terminals Longview - Coal Export Terminal - Section 401 Water Quality Certification
Dear Washington Department of Ecology: I urge Ecology to protect water quality in the Columbia River and countless streams and rivers that would be harmed by Millennium's coal trains. Ecology has received unprecedented expert testimony from Tribes, state and federal agencies, impacted communities, and the people of the Pacific Northwest to deny Millennium's proposal. Based on this record, we urge Ecology to deny the 401 certification. Ecology must deny the 401 certification because Millennium's project would violate Washington State's water quality standards, harm designated uses, and contravene the state's Antidegradation Policy. The project also flies in the face of our region's commitment to combat the devastating impacts of climate change. Millennium's oversized ambitions to rebrand the Pacific* Northwest the coal export capital of the United States conflict with the public interest in thriving local economies, clean water, clean energy, and healthy communities. Important Notices and Resources Our government agencies have a duty to protect it's citizens by protecting that which supports life; clean air and water, and promote clean energy. Anyone promoting this project is going against the health, safety and wellbeing of citizens, as well as our precious ecosystem. We urge you to protect your citizens and our environment to promote good health. Coal is an archaic resource and pollutes our environment. This is not what we need or want. Please take a stand on this critical issue and deny certification for the project.. Thank you.

Dorit Zingarelli
Clinton, WA 98236

Really? It's with disbelief and horror to think our elected and non elected representatives would even consider adding more fuel to the flames of bad ideas by supporting MORE infrastructure to an already destructive method of energy. Among other concerns, moving coal through WA could contaminate the Columbia River from which our food is grown. Who does this idea serve? Even the "The [U.S. Fish and Wildlife] Service has significant concerns regarding the foreseeable impacts of the Millennium Longview Coal Terminal project. The Service believes that the current proposal would have adverse impacts to fish, wildlife, and tribal trust resources...The Service believes that the SEPA co-leads [i.e., the Washington Department of Ecology and Cowlitz County] should recommend against approval of this proposed facility/project." PLEASE STOP INCREASING THE COAL TRAINS! POURING MORE TOXINS INTO OUR AIR AND WATER IS LIFE THREATENING.

Please do not allow this travesty to take place!

Jennene Christine

Everett, WA 98208-6021

The problems of rail safety,, coal dust, water quality degradation as well as the contribution to greenhouse gasses negate any potential benefits. Please reject this coal export terminal. Thank you.

Kathleen Boley

Shoreline, WA 98155

The biggest coal user in asia is going clean energy. We should not wreck our environment with out of control trains on antique tracks for little or no profit. NOT IN WA STATE OR ON US TAXPAYERS DIME. Oil copsnies should move to building factories for wind turbines and battery en- hancements.

Pamela Beason

Bellingham, WA 98226-3877

The coal terminal proposed in Longview Washington serves only the profit margins of the waning coal industry, and would damage every community along the railways over which the coal would travel. It's a waste of money and resources, just to help polluters and add to the emissions of greenhouse gasses.

B. Bailey

Eastsound, WA 98245-0520

The Columbia River is already endangered from Hanford reactor which is LEAKING into it. When will it stop? Why are we EXPORTING all of our natural resources, unrefined, to Asia? We risk our watersheds, rivers, oceans, and the lives of millions - even billions - of people. If we kill our waters, we kill the earth.

Please protect our waters. As it stands now, the Clean Water Act states that the Waters of the United States belong to the People and First Nations. Please protect OUR waters! Say NO to Millennium's coal terminal. You have heard our testimony time and again; it's still the same - Coastal people rely on our waters for economy and for survival. We steward the marine and fresh waters because we know that if we foul our waters, the planet and all of us cannot live. Please deny all fossil fuel export terminals on environmental and economic grounds. Thank you.

Meagan All

The environmental and health costs of this terminal far outweigh the benefits for Washington residents!

Paula Rotondi
Bellingham, WA 98226

The first responsibility of government is to protect public health and safety. There is nothing more essential to public health than clean water. So I urge Ecology to deny the 401 certification for Millennium Bulk Terminals because Millennium's project would violate Washington State's water quality standards, harm designated uses and drinking water, and contravene the state's Antidegradation Policy. I urge Ecology to deny Millennium's 401 certification for the following reasons: 1. The Millennium project poses a serious risk of significantly polluting the Columbia River, and countless other rivers, streams and groundwaters in Washington State and in all the communities and states along the train route from the Powder River Basin coal mines to Longview. Every coal train, loaded or empty, even using current "best practices" loses significant quantities of coal along its entire route. According to BNSF, an average coal car loses 500 pounds of coal dust traveling from the Powder River Basin to destination. Additionally, every coal train produces significant and seriously harmful diesel particulates which are toxic when breathed and toxic when dispersed in soil and water. 2. Millennium's bulk coal stockpiles are another significant and serious source of air and water pollution. Millennium's enormous coal stockpiles would be on the ground, uncovered, and unprotected from wind and rain. These uncovered coal stockpiles would be constantly churned in the process of transferring 44 million tons of coal annually from trains-to-stockpiles-to-ships and likely would release more than a million pounds of coal dust annually into the air and water surrounding the terminal. 3. After Millennium's coal is burned in Asia, the pollutants - especially mercury - would travel back across the Pacific Ocean and settle in our waters contaminating our seafood making even moderate levels of consumption unsafe. 4. The burning of Millennium's coal would result in CO2 emissions, the primary cause of climate change. Climate change is already harming Washington State with record-setting weather including extreme heat, droughts, wildfires and ocean acidification. Please deny the 401 certification for Millennium Bulk Terminals.

Vivian Korneliussen
Shoreline, WA 98133-4809

The future for US citizens deserves better! Stop the pollution of our state (and our world) from coal, and give our state a green future.

Emily Hazen
Seattle, WA 98116-3623

The harmful effects of coal are well-documented. Please take your mission seriously and safeguard the public. We're counting on you to do it for us.

Linda Belcher

Sedro Woolley, WA 98284-1233

The health and safety of our children, grandchildren, neighbors, communities, nation, and, even, the world should NOT be sacrificed to enrich the few. Millennium's terminal---indeed, any Big Coal project---negatively impacts our quality of life and our longevity. What the coal companies propose is short-sighted, unethical and criminal. Vote "No" on Millennium's Longview, WA proposal.

Lynn Stiglich

Vancouver, WA 98686-2618

The idea of extracting coal from the ground and using it as fuel is bad in so many ways. The WA Dept of Ecology must deny the water pollution permit for this project. The Pacific Northwest is one of the most unique and precious places on the planet and must be protected by all of us and not exploited by Millennium or any other energy company. Coal is a dirty and unhealthy substance to burn and be exposed to. Please deny the permit for the coal terminal.

Lorinda Roland

Olga, WA 98279-0055

The impact of these coal trains would be devastating. Please prevent them.

Michael Hamilton

Port Hadlock, WA 98339-8727

The Millenium Bulk Terminal is not justifiable morally or ethically!!

Greg Lopic

Longview, WA 98632

The Millennium project would be harmful for communities along the transportation corridors, but even worse for the world as a whole as the coal gets burned. Washington state needs to do its part to protect future generations. Thank you

Mona Steinach

Seattle, WA 98102-4262

The offrun water from mining the coal is finding its way to the oceans and is a main contributor of mercury which poisons all the sealife.

Karen Moskowitz

Seattle, WA 98122

The only hope for our orca, salmon, and threatened wildlife is to protect them for the poisons that coal transport always bring with it. We cannot afford the environmental threat that this poses. Particularly when coal demand is falling.

Sherry Daniel

Ravensdale, WA 98051-0883

The Pacific Northwest is a leader in green lifestyles, renewable clean energy, and local unity against climate change. Coal has no place in our region or our future, please do all you can to prevent this threat to our precious region.

Jayne Carpenter

Vancouver, WA 98684-4843

The plans for this terminal will have a huge negative impact on our enviornment

John Springer

Camano Island, WA 98282-7279

The risk of pollution to the Columbia river is too great. Please deny this permit.

Alice Goss

Clinton, WA 98236-8623

The risks to communities and pollution is bad enough but exporting 44 million tons of dirty coal annually to Asia from Longview WA is not in the best interest of Washington state, America or the world. Stopping carbon from entering the atmosphere should be our goal and pursuing clean energy now.

Michael Blome
Seattle, WA 98115-6637

The scientific evidence is clear that rising seas will threaten Washington's coastline over the coming decades unless we drastically cut back on CO2 emissions. We owe our children our best efforts to secure their future. There is no excuse for approving this destructive travesty.

Veda Mitchell
Cheney, WA 99004

The time for coal is over! You are just wasting time and money as the future on new forms of power have already arrived. Study both sides of the issue. Get your heads out of the holes.

Judy Vann
Seattle, WA 98115

The time is now to stand up and protect the earth and the people who live on it, not the corporations making money from it. Our health and well-being should be the priority, but it clearly is not. The principals of Millennium will primarily benefit from this project, not the people in the area.

Merle Hooley
Bellevue, WA 98007

The trains are a trail of coal dust and at the destination, a major source of pollution.

Kathleen Bentley
Forks, WA 98331-9402

The waters in the Pacific Northwest must be kept as clean as possible. It is much more difficult to clean up pollution than it is to keep it from happening --- we have that chance now to keep our rivers from getting polluted with coal dust. At a time when the USA is phasing out coal generation, we should not be encouraging other countries to use coal by shipping it to them. Coal pollutes; leave it in the ground!

Ann Schmidt
Everett, WA 98204-7356

The world does not need any more coal powered energy.

Donna Stahl
Seattle, WA 98199-7144

The world must wean itself from shipping and burning dirty coal. WA State already suffers the aftermath of radioactive waste at Hanford; it is unthinkable that a "more informed" government agency would "permit" the contamination of our environment with coal. Say "NO" to Millennium Bulk Terminals!

Karen Berntsen
Poulsbo, WA 98370-0193

The world needs to adopt clean energy and turn away from dirty coal. Get lung-destroying particulates out of the air and mercury out of fish; Say NO to coal!

Yara Tethys

There are too many trains as it is going through quiet residential areas of the city, we don't need or want ones that carry this toxic cargo.

Jean Waight
Bellingham, WA 98229-2711

There is no compelling public good that would counter-weigh the externalized costs. The DOE should respect the science, and the fact that the risk of spills and contamination and airborne pollution always falls on the public--the private industry never has the capacity to set things right again. Please listen to the opinion of the " [U.S. Fish and Wildlife] Service has significant concerns regarding the foreseeable impacts of the Millennium Longview Coal Terminal project. The Service believes that the current proposal would have adverse impacts to fish, wildlife, and tribal trust resources...The Service believes that the SEPA co-leads [i.e., the Washington Department of Ecology and Cowlitz County] should recommend against approval of this proposed facility/project."

Steve Foss

Lyle Wirtanen
Walla Walla, WA 99362-9232

There is no such thing as clean coal. It is not time to invest in this form of energy.

Bill Justis
Olympia, WA 98512-9410

There is nothing-nothing in a coal terminal that will benefit Washington residents and our environment-only loss. The profits will leave the state and we will be left with pollution. Why invest in an outdated energy commodity. Coal markets are decreasing. The developing world is investing in renewables now-not coal. In addition, the coal mining is polluting our public lands and waters.

Aileen Taylor
Spokane Valley, WA 99216-0485

There's no such thing as clean coal and there are better alternatives to coal and it's time to make the switch.

John Bayer
Washougal, WA 98671-9161

There's no way that Millennium Bulk Terminals can win. There's just too much opposition. With climate change, coal has to go. Even the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service opposes Millennium's plans to pollute the Columbia River with coal dust.

Bonney Lake, WA 98391-5532

This coal export terminal is a serious threat to our water quality as well as to our fisheries on the Columbia River and should not be built!

Lissa Treadway
Sammamish, WA 98074-6817

This coal export terminal is wrong in every way. It will pollute the land, water and air locally, nationally and worldwide. Coal must be replaced by clean and renewable resources.

Laurel Hughes
Lynnwood, WA 98037

This coal terminal and the trains that service it pollute our lands and waterways across Washington State. They MUST be denied!!!!

Jan Mickelson
Walla Walla, WA 99362

This coal terminal is a bad idea. I think that the dust will make it bad for people with lung diseases and allergies. The use of coal is bad for all of the planet, the air pollution caused by coal is unacceptable for our world! Please do not approve the coal export terminal.

Betsy O'halloran
Spokane, WA 99208-9745

This coal terminal will damage our fisheries, damage our air, and damage our health. It will also directly cause addition of enormous carbon to our atmosphere. We must not accept this terminal.

Dee Arntz

THIS FACILITY IS NOT NEEDED IN WASHINGTON ADDING TO AIR POLLUTION THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

Nancy Yeilding
Bainbridge Island, WA 98110-3623

This is a backwards step for Washington and for the earth.

Sharon Walbridge
Pullman, WA 99163-3698

This is a bad idea for the people of Washington and their environment. Stop worshipping money and start caring about people.

R A Johnson
Walla Walla, WA 99362-3037

This is a no-brainer! The last thing, the very last thing, the planet, not to speak of the PNW, needs is a depot that encourages more fossil fuel incineration.

Seattle, WA 98125

This is a step backwards for the health and safety of us all. Do your job to protect the environment and the public!

Sue Moon
Seattle, WA 98144-4018

This is a very short sighted and destructive move.

Katie Berkowitz
Tacoma, WA 98408-5911

This is an incredible investment in the wrong direction. Look to our future needs.

Lois Fenstemaker
Seattle, WA 98107

this is insane, Why are you seeking to undermine known environment danger to our air, water the very lives and future health of our children and grandchildren

Janice Wilfing

Sequim, WA 98382-8513

This is not needed. Coal is an obsolete energy, the risk to a river that is far more valuable is not worth it.

Marilyn Clise

Woodinville, WA 98077-7803

This is not the way America should go - sending coal to Asia will not solve any problems for climate change, or help any lives here, as coal fuel is not worth the risks one has it is use!

Katherin Balles

Bremerton, WA 98310

This is not what we Washingtonians want for our beautiful state. It goes against everything we stand for. We care deeply about the environment, our waters, clean air, and our fish and wildlife. The tribes have had more than enough taken from them by our Government already. This terminal is not acceptable and the permit must be denied.

Rhonda James

Olympia, WA 98513-5534

This is short-sighted and ill-conceived. Please stop this now.

Mark Wirth

Seattle, WA 98102-5656

This is so bad. Why are we still supporting coal?

Sean O'dell

Renton, WA 98056-3540

This is the opposite direction that our country should be going. Please do not allow this to happen

Jennifer Bennett

Seattle, WA 98118-2420

*This is the state I have resided in for over 20 years. It would be an environmental embarrassment if this terminal was built given what we know about climate change, coal, and the impact of transporting it.
Please don't do this!*

Don Parks

Remond, WA 98052-5934

This messy proposal will mortgage the clean water and air of the future in SW Washington if this dirty coal facility is built. Do not proceed with this project.

Sharon Throop

Spokane, WA 99224-5959

This must not be allowed to happen! Please listen to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the people!!!!

Carol Haines

Port Orchard, WA 98367

This project could do serious harm to Washington's environment. It is not worth it to support what will be a dying industry. Protect our Columbia River!

Christy Lee-engel

Seattle, WA 98115-3821

This project is detrimental to the health of people, wildlife and the whole Columbia River ecological system. Please do the right thing and do not issue this pollution permit.

Andrew Wilks

Seattle, WA 98122-2519

*This project would cause long-term problems with the environment for the financial benefit of a very few.
All of will end up paying for it.*

Ruth W. Shearer

Lacey, WA 98503-2585

This project would spread coal dust all along the Columbia River between Washington and Oregon. Then as the trains come north our communities would be covered with large amounts of coal dust, a significant human health risk. We don't want coal here at all.

Ola Edwards
Seattle, WA 98105

This proposal is a crime against the planet and everything that lives on it.

Allison Shearer
Bellevue, WA 98006-4718

This proposal to ship Coal is a disaster in the making. This is just bad business. Bad for us, bad for the environment here and in China. Please put health before profits.

Lori Northrup
Vancouver, WA 98685-1385

This proposed coal export terminal will cause irreprovable harm not only to my beautiful state but to overseas accepting this filthy non renewable energy! There is no positive impact by the approval of this water polluting, fish killing, wildlife killing, tribal land encroaching project! The only positive impact will be on the owners of Big Coal and I'm sure in some way, the pockets of Trump and his cronies! Do not allow this export terminal that will have a devastating effect on increasing Climate Change!

Laura Zerr
Auburn, WA 98092-9289

This terminal is to no advantage to our overall economy but greatly impact our environment on land and water for both Washington and Oregon. Coal dust is invasive and has health impacts all surrounding waters, land, animals and people. Please deny this permit.

Kim Loftness
Shoreline, WA 98155-1155

This terminal will be a crime against our fragile global environment--and humanity.

Rob Lee
Grapeview, WA 98546-9726

This terminal will jeopardize the entire northwest. The river, the fish and wildlife and people who live in this region will all be negatively impacted. All for what reason? So coal can be stripped from the U.S. and sold to Asia? The communities from where the coal is mined will be negatively impacted. All for the profit of the coal industries investors and owners. Nobody else will profit. And it will ultimately add to green house gasses. All for greed of an insignificantly few people. Please do not allow this to happen.

Mary Collins
Kelso, WA 98626-9213

This terminal would be within sight of many homes on the hills above Longview, WA. The coal dust could waft its way from the trains bringing the fracked coal from WY to the Longview/Columbia River coal terminal. China will add to its smog problem, which would add to Earth's pollution, and probably send back the results to the US, wafting on the breezes and floating on the waves. This would be devastating to our western coast environment, incl. birds and humans. This is just wrong for any place -- Why risk this for the US just to give (sell) it to China and have the sour results float back on the wind and waters to the US??

Carolyn Willis
Bellevue, WA 98005-1623

This terminal would damage our waters.

Ruth Darden
Seattle, WA 98115-7810

This water pollution permit must be denied for all our sakes.

Jack Hirsch
Bellevue, WA 98005-1438

This would be a huge investment in a dying and polluting energy source. China is moving to clean energy as fast as it can

Andrew Gerske
Vancouver, WA 98655

This would impact many people in the area and the Columbia river needs to be protected from this dangerous pollution. This would increase climate change.

To repeat the obvious...We must stop abusing our planet; stop polluting our land, our air, our waters; and stop poisoning us.

Donna Hanson
Pullman, WA 99163-3769

Transporting coal across hundreds of miles to get coal to an export terminal is something that must not be done. I speak as one of the thousands of people who live in the hundreds of towns and cities that would be infected by the transport of coal across the country to the coast for export. I urge you to deny the access for this port.

Talbott Miller
Seattle, WA 98122-2625

Uncovered coal trains deposit diesel pollution and coal-dust pollution along every mile of their journeys. Not only is the pollution harmful to waters and soil, but there is, except for a handful of workers at a loading facility, zero monetary benefit for those whose environment is subject to this pollution!

Georgia Mcdade
Seattle, WA 98118

Use of coal is steadily decreasing. What mining does to the environment--earth and sky--is all negative. Surely you care about your progeny, their progeny. You have the power, resources to change the world for the better. Please do it. Thank you.

Washington had signed on to the Paris agreement - don't pretend that if we outsource our dirty energy or continue to support it that we aren't complicit as well.

Nancy Horman
Seattle, WA 98103-5065

Washington is looking to the future, not the past with its dirty fuels. As a founding member of the Climate Alliance, Washington points to the future energies. Coal is dead. Even China is trying to become coal-free.

Suzanne Holden

Vancouver, WA 98685-4207

WASHINGTON is my State. I moved here and adopted it in 2004. This project can ruin not only the immediate area but will contribute to climate change which is bad for the whole world not just the US. I guess I will be dead by then but my grandchildren do not deserve this. We need to work toward environmentally friendly power sources not dirty coal. Alternate power sources also provide better jobs for our economy.

Marian Schwarzenbach
Seattle, WA 98105-2149

Washington state has repeatedly refused coal export terminals. We still don't want them. We have too much to lose, in health, environment, business, and we won't lose our fish, clean air, good water for a dirty pipe dream of some coal investors.

Arthur (r.d.) Grunbaum
Westport, WA 98595-1044

Water from the Columbia River affects the entire Southern and Central Coast of Washington. Coal and other fossil fuels are incompatible with clean water, which is essential for fish, our economy and human survival. Deny this and all permits which threaten our survival.

Lynne Oulman
Bellingham, WA 98225-6304

Water is the source of life. Please don't trade clean water for heavy metal laden poison just to satisfy the desires of those who seek personal aggrandizement. It is may not be possible to undo harm after it has happened. Think of our children and all other species who rely on clean/safe water. Don't sell us all out for a dying, dirty, and irresponsible industry (the ones who never pick up the tab for "externalities!")
Thank you

Noel Barnes

We cannot afford to endanger water quality and fisheries that serve the public interests just to provide more profits from coal for energy companies.

Heather Van Helvoort

Seattle, WA 98144-5629

We cannot use Washington state as a gateway for dirty energy! Coal pollutes any way you look at it (including in transport!) and we need to stop the use of coal, find cleaner alternatives.

Susan Nieh

Redmond, WA 98052

We can't afford to keep building more dirty energy infrastructure. Those investments should go to developing clean energy. The more we invest in coal and petroleum, the harder it is to make the inevitable and unavoidable switch.

Tracy Mosier

We do not need anymore damage to our environment. I live in the Longview area....we have enough pollution here to last a lifetime. Please stop with the coal.

Jeff Turner

We do not need coal.

Mary Louise Schwartz

Woodinville, WA 98072

We do not need or want to pollute our home with coal dust from coal that is being exported to China. The coal company can put it in sealed containers from the point of origin which should protect the environment and the people from the very unhealthy coal dust and it will provide more profit to the company because it will not be losing coal as it blows out of the containers.

James Mcroberts

We do NOT want this coal terminal!! We DON'T want to increase the use of fossil fuels!! We do NOT want the risk of coal spills into the Columbia River, nor do we want "other" pollution possibilities to towns along the way from its transfer as well!! An IDEA for you: use the money from this project to invest in SOLAR, WIND, HYDRO, or any of the other 'safe' alternative energy sources...since THOSE are the future anyway!! Coal, oil, gas,. etc., are from the dinosaur age---get 'with it' and use the monies you were going to spend on 'this' project, on 'safe' alternative energy projects and you'll be "ahead" of the game...you'll leave all the 'other' coal-oil-gas people in the dust. Be smart: get into solar, wind, hydro,

Karen Mitchell
Vancouver, WA 98685

We don't want this in Washington!!

Muhammad Thompson
Tulalip, WA 98271-7300

We have to accept that the age of coal as a fuel are over. There is no way one can justify shipping the filthy, polluting matter off to other countries to make it their problem. Pollution in China eventually pollutes us as well. Extracting it from the ground is just as devastating. Coal exports to China are no different from the opium trade we did in that nation for years. We need to end it, and I believe that if the courts and regulatory agencies don't stop this insane project, the people have the right to stop it by any means necessary.

Lou Orr
Shoreline, WA 98155

We have to STOP this project and protect Mother Earth. Too many people are just looking at the money but we have to get people to understand how ugly and toxic fossil fuels are and we have to STOP using them. Leave it in the ground!

Gary McLaughlin
Camas, WA 98607-4100

We just do not need this. Let's move on from coal. It is filthy! This will disrupt our environment for the profits of a few. NO terminal!!

Pat Lenzen
Vancouver, WA 98684-5064

we like being clean and are doing things to keep that effort going. Being the biggest coal exporting terminal is not on our bucket list. Take your idea and try and sell it elsewhere.

Sef Magrath
Spokane, WA 99202-5502

We must begin to use renewable energy. This filth we burn into our atmosphere is killing all life and eating our souls. Profits can no longer be our only concern...are we so stupid?

Bruce Barnbaum
Granite Falls, WA 98252

We must END the mining and distribution of coal for energy. The future of life as we know it on earth is far more important than anything, and continuing to work with coal undermines any effort to protect life as we know it. Please stop all mining of coal within Washington, shipping of coal through Washington, or exporting coal from any Washington port.

Dennis Potter
Vancouver, WA 98661

We must keep this carbon in the ground. Burning rocks must be stopped for our children's future.

Natalie Miller
Seattle, WA 98122-2126

We must move past the natural resource decimating use of coal and turn our efforts to renewable energy sources. We must honor our clean water and our indigenous communities. Please do not let this happen. It would greatly endanger wildlife, clean water, and the residents of the area.

Sue Carpenter
Sequim, WA 98382-8093

We must stop supporting things that contribute to climate change and pollution.

Diane Huigen
Spokane, WA 99224

We MUST STOP the nation's largest coal export terminal! This is ridiculous!! The only reason we are talking about coal is because trump is pushing it! Coal would dust everyplace it goes with coal dust. It would also generate more greenhouse gas pollution in Asia, which would contribute to climate change. Asian countries participated in the Paris Climate Agreement which was a good sign for the world. Now trump is trying to destroy our world!!

John Malcomson

Michael Smith
Seattle, WA 98116-3809

We need more focus on renewable energy. Instead of exporting coal, we should be exporting wind power generators, solar panels and the like. China recently took a bold step in building one of the largest solar farms in the world. Certainly we can follow their lead and do them one better.

Jerry Miller
Vancouver, WA 98660

We need renewable energy- NOT COAL!

Matt Lennon

We need sustainable solutions, not subsistence for dying industries, industries which harm the planet and our resources.

Jean K. Cassill
Bellingham, WA 98225-5095

We need to deny the presence of the coal terminal in Longview. The coal is being sent to Asia from where the pollution will end up on our shores and it will pollute our air from the shipment to and from Longview. Stop it now please.

Kraig Nelson
Poulsbo, WA 98370

We need to ELIMINATE the use of coal, NOT support it!!

Fred Sayer
Vashon, WA 98070-8719

We need to get away from fossil fuels. Now.

Cindy Groepper
Spokane, WA 99224-8483

We need to get rid of coal as a fuel and stop exporting it. It pollutes the air and affects the air quality of the world. There other other energies to pursue that don't destroy our lands and air. Hold big corporations accountable to support progressive alternative energy.

Susan Baker

We need to move away from coal not build out more infrastructure. Please oppose this travesty

Marcia Merryman
Freeland, WA 98249-9518

We need to move beyond a coal and other fossil fuel economy for us and the rest of the world. China also sees this and will be motivated to further their green efforts as their sources of coal decrease. Lack of a port is a good first step. Don't build this thing!

Alice Pfister

We need to protect this one life giving planet....Here is one important way to do it.

William Peer
Olympia, WA 98502-9323

We need to protect Washington's resources, especially our water(Puget Sound, our rivers and lakes.). Coal is dirty and pollutes everything around and related to it. Coal is a dying industry. Why would anyone with any sense want to allow its production to continue and contribute to Asia adding more green house gases to our problem of climate change. PLEASE deny the permits and do everything else you can to stop the building of this export terminal and preserve our beautiful state. Thank you.

Jennifer Cartwright
Bellingham, WA 98226-9435

Katherine Wright
Freeland, WA 98249-9682

Olympia, WA 98512-6849

We should not be developing more coal usage: we should be stopping the burning of coal entirely.

Holly Dowling
Bellevue, WA 98005

We should not be doubling down on dirty coal! Instead we should be spending money to support renewable sources of energy.

Roy Farrant
Ocean Park, WA 98640

We should not build a facility to export pollution.

Gary Fredericksen
Olympia, WA 98502

We simply have to make the switch fully to alternative fuel sources. This terminal would build infrastructure to ensure we make our planet uninhabitable for humans. We already don't know if we can save the salmon as the Columbia River warms. Why in the world would we decide to add yet more warmth to the river, not to mention all the other undesirable impacts.

Cigdem Capan
Richland, WA 99352-3807

We want our economy to transition into clean energy, China is moving toward clean energy faster than we are, building this terminal with the idea of exporting coal to China makes no economic sense. In order to insure a stable climate for the next generations we need to keep all fossil fuels in the ground.

Linda Sheek
Lummi Island, WA 98262-8647

We were faced with a similar situation here in Whatcom County with the Pacific Coal Terminal. We resisted and we won! Do not allow this high risk polluting industry to contaminate our air, water, and land. No Big Coal in Washington State!

Barbara Dettlaff
Centralia, WA 98531-8828

Western Washington in the Longview area is pristine. Coal export terminals do not belong in an area of forests, clean rivers, near the Columbia and certainly not flowing through small towns with all the pollution that will ensue.

Linda Dennis
Vancouver, WA 98664-1637

We've already seen impacts from the miles long coal trains that run through our area. Friends of mine who live down wind of the tracks have developed asthma. Nearby vegetation is dying. This is simply a bad idea.

...living in the Northwest not far away from where this terminal is to be built this is the last thing I and other's here want to see. Coal is the dirtiest form of fuel and loading it on ships will release toxic coal dust into the air. Also should an accident occur either along the rail route, at the terminal, or on the Columbia River, it would have a very negative impact on the local environment. We need to reduce and eliminate, not continue to promote, use of this dirty fuel whether here or in other nations.

Although I live in Oregon, I grew up in Washington, and I treasure the rivers of both states. I am concerned about the impacts of coal dust in the air and water, both on aquatic life and on people. I also have grave concerns with making a huge infrastructure investment tying us more firmly to fossil energy. The quality of life of our descendants will be directly affected by the decision taken here. I hope the Washington Department of Ecology will recommend against approval of this coal export terminal. Thank you for this opportunity to speak.

Another bad idea that could potentially harm our environment. Just cause it glitters doesn't mean it's gold. Too often decisions are made without thinking how at minimum 7 generations will be affected. With only one disasterous event, many precious and scarce resources are adversely changed for who knows how long. I live in this area and drink the water, eat the fish, breath the air. Come on! As a citizen who suffers from asthma, any coal dust or particulate will threaten my health and even my life, as I can not breathe when triggered and my throat closes down! Please don't add pollution when we desire to keep coal in the ground to reduce our atmospheric soup! Bless you for caring!

David Parker
Portland, OR 97214-4805

As a resident of Portland, Oregon, I am concerned about the impact of this terminal on the Columbia River and it's tributaries. Also, we must keep coal in the ground to preserve the planet, and all citizens of the earth need a healthy planet to survive and thrive.

Mark Creevey
Lake Oswego, OR 97034-3213

As a resident of the Oregon I urge you to protect the Columbia river for future generations.

Joan Johnson

As an Oregon neighbor, I urge you to turn down the bulk coal export terminal in Longview WA. It's not worth the risk!

Karen Lundblad
Eugene, OR 97405-9640

As an Oregonian I too will be highly affected by the coal terminal built in Longview Washington.

Bethroot Gwynn
Myrtle Creek, OR 97547

As if the harm done to the earth by coal mining weren't enough, it is madness to compound the damage with this destructive export terminal project. US Fish and Wildlife service knows what they are talking about and they say No! So do I, emphatically. Bethroot Gwynn

Martha Mollison
Portland, OR 97217-6831

As the world moves away from coal, building this new terminal makes no sense.

Robert Southwick
Gleneden Beach, OR 97388-0316

Aside from the fact fossil fuels should stay in the ground this coal is a dirty business. It impacts everyone from where it is extracted to it's final destination and ever ypoint in between.

Brian Sullivan
Portland, OR 97209-2009

Atmospheric political boundaries is an oxymoron! This plan is all about the greed of coal companies. Jobs created would be few compared to the pollution created in transit

Kathryn Hardin

Building this massive coal terminal is one more step in the opposite direction from where our country needs to be moving. Resist the foolish and irresponsible direction of the current administration and get America back on track regarding the future of energy - DO NOT BUILD THIS TERMINAL!

Charlotte Campbell
Albany, OR 97321-9659

Building this terminal would be short-sighted and harmful in the long run. It is wrong to pollute the Columbia, especially with such a dirty energy project.

Suzanne Burke

Choosing to pollute our air and water for coal when it is being rapidly replaced by clean methods of producing power is really a failure of public responsibility.

Norman Ritchie

Coal dust from trains along the river WILL harm the rivers ecosystem. Invertebrates that are the bottom of the river's food web WILL be contaminated. This is documented in Canadian coal ports.

Jen Vel
Florence, OR 97439-8886

Coal dust killed my grandfather and polluted the home of 4 children all of whom suffered bronchitis and coughed up black stuff. Go with clean sustainable wind and solar. Asia is cutting back on polluting fossil fuel burning to help their people survive.

Michael T Williams

Coal is a dead end industry.

Linda Stead
Talent, OR 97540-9612

Coal is a dirty fuel. To mine it destroys the land, to burn it destroys the the atmosphere and pollutes the air. The earth has many other fuel options these days. Don't take short term financial gain at the expense of long term devastation!

Coal is a proven pollutant and not viable. I am particularly opposed to this construction in my community. The people in the Pacific Northwest know how precious our environment is and have said no repeatedly to hazardous projects like this terminal. Stop the Millennium Bulk Terminal.

Coal is an extremely dirty fuel and should be phased out not sent overseas. Please do not permit this to be built. Thank you

Coal is an obsolete power source rapidly being eclipsed by renewable resources. Why spend the money to build a terminal for a dying product that's also an environmental nightmare?

Joy Mamoyac
Corvallis, OR 97330

Coal is becoming obsolete in the 21 century as natural gas is cheaper. In addition there is NO SUCH THING as clean coal. The toxic dust from coal WILL harm the enviroment and can make people sick. I come from a family of coal miners from Pennsylvania and EVERYONE of them died from BLACK LUNG DISEASE! Do the right thing and say no to coal for the enviroment and people's health risk!!!

Sara Smith

Coal is dirty, dangerous and detrimental to our environment and way of life. It should never be part of our energy and economy systems.

Blythe Clark-mckitrick
Portland, OR 97223-7117

Coal is dying. The world is transitioning to clean energy. This terminal makes no sense: a great deal of money would be spent to pollute beautiful places all in the name of exporting a substance no one will use much longer.

Chris Mueller
Portland, OR 97202

Coal is ever less useful. Why mess up SO MUCH land in Canada and in the US creating all new facilities for a declining industry? Well, $$$$$$$$$ of course. But not for the affected population, land or wildlife but for coal executives only. Why fund THEIR greed at everyone else's expense?!?!?!?

Elaine Soljaga
Portland, OR 97239-2040

Coal is no longer a viable energy source. Period. The pollution from extraction, greenhouse gas, and climate change require an immediate deny the water pollution permit for this project. How insane! In addition, jobs in renewable energy are already outpacing those in the coal and oil industry. PLEASE SUPPORT RENEWABLE JOBS!!!! We have incredible competition from China in this industry already.

Donald Calvert Anderson
Lebanon, OR 97355-4422

Coal is No Longer Relevant. Just like the buggy whip making factories, it is part of the past and unnecessary with so much access to non polluting geothermal, wind and solar.

Amy Tomlinson
Boring, OR 97009-9459

Coal is not clean even if it's not being burned here. Polluting the Columbia to load it, expending fossil fuels to ship it, where the burning of it will then pollute the air--are we in the 21st century or the 19th? Please do not allow this corporate pig to profit at the expense of our environment.

Brian Lockhart

Coal is not healthful either for people or for the earth; keep it in the ground, we don't need more CO2 in the atmosphere!

Coal is on the way out, please deny the water pollution permit--if you allow it, the environment, wildlife and people are in danger. Please do not allow pollution!

Barbara Bryers

Coal is one of the dirtiest pollutants in our air, coating everything it comes in contact with, including the inside of nostrils and lungs of all animals including humans. As a person with severe asthma, who came to the Northwest because of the clean air, I strongly object to going back to an environment that will ultimately kill me. we need to keep the air we breathe, and our clean air, water and surrounding environment coal free. We need to keep the Great Pacific Northwest of the USA pristine.

Joann Henderson
Florence, OR 97439-9648

Granting a water pollution permit to Millennium Bulk Terminals should not happen. We need to keep our rivers safe for fish, wildlife and for the Tribal trust. Having coal dust in our river and in our air is counter to cleaning up our environment. Sending coal to Asia is counter to reducing global warming. We must stop thinking about the bottom line and start thinking about sane decisions for our future life on this planet.

Katherine Koestler
Yachats, OR 97498-8425

Hello & thanks for reading this message. I don't understand how you can consider exporting coal to the detriment of people, fish & other critters. It wouldn't be worth doing even if we kept it so why consider exporting it. That seems simple enough for me. Katherine Koestler

Elisabeth Wyllie
Beaverton, OR 97007-2766

How does shipping all this coal out of the country reduce our dependence on fossil fuels from other countries? Is this what you think energy independence looks like? Are you really willing to do anything to put profits over people and the protection of the environment? You were elected to best serve the needs of We the People, not line the pockets of the favored few, and to be good stewards of this country and everything that goes into making it what it is. Your obvious disdain for the environment that sustains our very lives is, frankly, appalling. Each of these acts you try to perpetrate will be remembered by We the People who VOTE. Remember who's interests your job was designed to serve.

I advocate for the environment because of my kids, grandkids, and great-grandkids. For me, those successive generations are not theoretical; they're already here. And I hope to leave behind a habitable planet for them, one that will sustain and support them. I figure you probably want the same for your loved ones; you want to do all you can to ensure that they are able to live in comfort on planet Earth. But, in order to provide a sustainable planet, we must all make changes and must act quickly. In the past, we did the best we knew to do; but now we know more about the damage our practices have wreaked upon the planet, and we need to do better. Rather than choosing to capitulate to corporate convenience (complacent corporations, foreign and domestic, which refuse to make necessary adjustments in products and production practices), we have to work to reverse damage that's already been done by decades of uninformed and reckless practices. Unlike so many of us, with limited voices, you have the power to make this choice at this time. I join with many others in their concerns and implore you to use the power of your position for the benefit of all the generations yet to come. Please do not allow greed and complacency to decimate quality of life. If we have health we can surmount difficulties. But when a person...or planet...is ailing, any good fortune is empty. Please choose to safeguard the health of this nation: land, air, water, residents ... human, as well as other fauna and flora. Safeguard it for our children and for their children ... for all who come after us.

I grew up in communist Czechoslovakia where the use of coal made the cities look black, and people sick. Coal is not clean energy, the waste pollutes our waterways. Keep the coal in the ground, crete alternative

Loreli Fister

Corvallis, OR 97330-2211

I grew up in Wyoming and understand the devastation that coal mining brings to the landscape. That desolation shouldn't be a result of coal companies making money selling coal to Asian countries.

Andey Nunes

Portland, OR 97211-5114

I grew up just upriver from Longview-Kelso, Washington in a small logging community called Deer Island, Oregon. My family was economically dependent upon the health of the rivers and forests in and surrounding Cowlitz County including Columbia County, Clatsop County, Clark County, Wakiakum County, and Pacific County. The livelihoods of all communities and tribal nations in these areas depend upon the clean air and water and a coal terminal threatens these conditions for the sake of profits that will in no way contribute to the local economy. Washington and Oregon economies need the diversity of the agriculture, forestry, fishing, and ecotourism industries to support growth in other sectors including technology, science, and energy. This coal terminal project transfers an undue ecological risk and threatens every upstream user along the marine and rail lines transporting the coal. We can do better economic development and planning that does not pose these kinds of risks to surrounding communities who gain nothing in return.

I live near the site of the proposed coal export terminals Portland Oregon, which is on the Columbia river. I urge the Washington department of Ecology to deny the permit because the terminal wOPD, a chronic lung iwater and air of the region. Those of us with impaired health would likely be further damaged by the effects of air and water pollution from this project.

Bob Shotland

Portland, OR 97209-3156

I live very near the Columbia River, downstream from the proposed coal export plant. I can say first hand that this proposal flies in the face of what residents here want, both in terms of local pollution as well as "exporting" pollution to other parts of the same planet we live on.

Robin Jenkins

Holly Bradford

Klamath Falls, OR 97601-8569

If we are going to develope coal industry again, shouldn't we be using our own resources instead of shipping them to Asia? this seems very unsustainable, hazardous to our environment, and not smart. It seems like some greedy corporations will reap all the benefits at the cost of our environment and it will not remedy our own energy needs.

I'm so thankful to live in such a beautiful part of the country. As a Pacific Northwesterner, I'm able to take advantage of all of the outdoor activities available to us. I hike, bike, and enjoy swimming in lakes, streams and rivers of Washington and Oregon. Please deny the 401 certification. Water quality absolutely affects me, my friends, and all of the people who live and breathe the outdoors. We are the future. Big business should be the past. It's time to reorganize what's important, and what makes life wonderful. Issue a water pollution permit in this day and age? don't you get that a multiple trillion ice shelf just broke off in the arctic sea? Don't you get that the Columbia River is already a sewer of PCBs and the Hanford reach puts it in continual danger? don't you get that we don't have the capacity to bear more pollution from dead fossil fuels? You must deny this permit, this plant, this destruction of everything valuable about the Columbia gorge, Longview, the lower Columbia area.

It doesn't make sense to put money into a coal terminal when coal is being phased out and clean energies are being developed. It's bad enough to continue using coal as an energy source. It's worse that just transporting coal sends coal dust into the air and across the land that the coal trains cross. But it's unconsciable to send this dust into prime waterways like the Columbia River and the pristine tributaries that flow into the Columbia River! As long as the greedy people and corporations who are driven by profit are pushing coal use won't be responsible, then it falls to the rest of us who have the best interests of the citizens of the United States to stop them.

John Riha
Ashland, OR 97520-3559

It's critical that our environments take precedence over profits. That's not just jingoism--it's the dramatic reality we face today. Please protect the Columbia River and some of the world's most vibrant waterways by denying this gluttonous project. Just the coal dust alone from the massive transportation of coal via train will greatly harm the Columbia and it's tributaries.

Sharon Grady
Portland, OR 97214-5464

It's time to stop using coal and to start promoting renewable energy!

Terese Kelly
Portland, OR 97218-2316

It's way past time to give up coal.

Randall Webb
Portland, OR 97210-3490

Just say "No" to coal. Enough!

Neilia Pierson
Cave Junction, OR 97523-9413

Just say no, it's time now.

Kathleen Anderson
Portland, OR 97203-5531

Keep coal in the ground. It's time to move beyond coal and stop polluting our planet.

Martin Frazier

KEEP IT IN THE GROUND

Devon Rohlfing
Damascus, OR 97089-2751

Keep it in the ground!

Renee Ramey
North Plains, OR 97133

Keep it in the ground! Our planet, our children, our future depends on this!

Kevin Brown
Silverton, OR 97381-8750

Keep OUR energy in this country and keep dirty coal out of our beautiful Northwest.

Laura Riedman
Bend, OR 97702-1901

*Keep your dirty toxic coal away from the west coast! We do Solar and wind here! The Northwest will fight back and stop this toxic plan. We are intelligent folks who know the deadly cost of coal pollution!
Not in our backyard!*

Ron Delp
Portland, OR 97206-4858

Kill this abomination once and for all! This only allows Asian coal-burning plants an incentive to continue their last gasp existence in the face of renewable remedies to climate change. With toxic emissions blown back to the U.S. west coast, we get pollution from coal before it's burned and after. All the benefits go to a few greedy people while the rest of us endure the fallout for generations. Stop this madness!

Ray Hogan
Portland, OR 97202-2221

KWe must, as a species, contientiously oppose any infrastructure that supports the burning and mining of coal.

Brenda Allison
Depoe Bay, OR 97341-9674

Leave it in the ground, An find a better way

Martha Shelley
Portland, OR 97203-2919

Leave the coal in the ground--we don't need any more greenhouse gases being pumped into the atmosphere.

Kelly Mcevoy
Mcminnville, OR 97128-0668

let us clean up our act before it is too late

Suzanne Hood
Seneca, OR 97873-0106

Let's keep coal emissions around the world a thing of the past. I oppose any coal burning on this planet especially since there are non polluting options! Keep our air clean and fresh for future generations! Air is more important than coal money!

Ben Horner-johnson
Milwaukie, OR 97222-6914

Let's keep the coal in the ground and the coal dust out of the Columbia Gorge and the rest of the basin.

Damian Kilby
Portland, OR 97202-1247

Lets move forward into a cleaner, healthier and smarter future.

Annabelle Herbert
Portland, OR 97219

Let's stop the use of coal entirely to help save the planet.

Francine Ladd
Clackamas, OR 97015-5314

Let's stop this cat and mouse game with Climate Change. It's too expensive and dangerous. Stop the insanity, put on your grown up pants and move on to clean energy for the worlds well being.

Genevieve Deguzman
Portland, OR 97203-2409

Millennium Bulk Terminals has had a proposal in the works for over six years to construct a coal export terminal that would ship 44 million tons of coal annually to Asia via Longview, Washington, putting our local communities at risk. It would also generate more greenhouse gas pollution in Asia, contributing to climate change.

Karen Lawrence
Eugene, OR 97404

Millennium Bulk Terminals will pollute Washington and Oregon's land and water, to the benefit of only coal companies and foreign countries. Please uphold Washington's water quality standards. Thank you.

Peggy Brewster
Yachats, OR 97498-9449

Millennium's plans to pollute the Columbia River with coal dust is another environmental disaster waiting to happen. Not IF, but WHEN. Irreparable damage to the water and life in it.

Wendy Mckee
Corvallis, OR 97330-6537

Mining and using coal kills people and degrades the environment. Reusable alternatives are the future and also the present. We shouldn't be mining coal, much less exporting it.

Kenneth Strothkamp
Portland, OR 97221-2951

More burning of coal, whether in the US or Asia, is the LAST thing the planet needs now.

Dana Petre-miller
Keizer, OR 97303-3534

More greenhouse gas in Asia. Additional climate change. Adverse impacts to fish, wildlife and tribal trust resources. All of these add up to a "no" vote for this coal export terminal!

M Field
Portland, OR 97204

Move on from coal.

Rob Kimmich

Salem, OR 97302-3019

My children and grandchild live in Portland, Oregon. It is important to me and to them to prevent a coal terminal in Longview, Washington.

Cam Wolff

Milwaukie, OR 97267-4538

MY HUSBAND AND I STRONGLY OBJECT TO THE LONGVIEW COAL TERMINAL PROJECT BECAUSE WE WANT A HEALTHY PLANET FOR OUR GRANDSONS TO INHABIT -- BURNING MORE COAL WILL DO JUST THE OPPOSITE!

Elisabeth Lake

Eugene, OR 97405-4661

My son and i have asthma. The last thing we need is to have coal dust in the air we breathe. Air and water pollution effects everyone.

Terri Rose

Central Point, OR 97502-3713

No coal No oil No fracking Save our planet

Ruthanne Carothers

Lake Oswego, OR 97035-4551

No coal terminals or coal trains in the Pacific NW. It is not good for the environment.

Leela Devi

Corvallis, OR 97333

No exports of dirty coal from our country to others. We all breathe the same air.

Dana Allen

Corvallis, OR 97330-4228

No filthy exports of coal for the sole profit of giant corporations. They get the profit and we in the U.S. get all the pollution for our children to bear. Save our water, air, and soil from this deadly pollution. Save our water from this project!!

Kenneth Deveney

Ashland, OR 97520-2833

No matter where coal is burned, it increases climate change, which then affects us all, including the Northwest.

Andrew Wade

Hood River, OR 97031

No more coal extraction! We cannot afford to continue destroying our environment, endangering human and wildlife, and borrowing from our future. Every step of the process puts lives and creation at risk. This is a dying industry and it's past time to let it go and move into the future for the sake of all.

Sue Beilke

Portland, OR 97223-4111

No more coal!! We need to stop using fossil fuels, we are killing the planet with this crappie and it needs to stop now.

Angela Wanak

Salem, OR 97302-3808

No more coal. I want renewables!

Melissa Cooper

Moira Hadlock
Beaverton, OR 97007-2628

NO! Absolutely not! This is completely insanely ignorant.

Linda Levin
Portland, OR 97201-6638

No, no, no. A thousand times no. No more pollution. No additional green house gases. Yes to the future of our children and, in my case, grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Dennis Tribble
Estacada, OR 97023-9551

Not a chance.....we must STOP mining coal in the US and then allowing greedy Koch heads make money by shipping it somewhere else...this is immoral and stupid

Kathryn Curtis
Silverton, OR 97381-1240

Oregonians stand with Washington and US Fish and Wildlife against this permit. The Pacific Northwest needs to be off-limits to those who would pursue profit over the environmental effects of such folly. We share the Columbia River, and acknowledge that there are other ways to harvest natural resources for power.

Emily Hinkel
Springfield, OR 97478-7751

Other forms of energy are a better idea.

Amanda G Moore
Portland, OR 97217-1556

Our fish habitat needs stronger protections. This whole region of humans would not be here but for the fish: they are like the base building blocks to the NW's society and economy. People have long forgotten that, and don't think all of these human endeavors have to answer to the basic need for clean air and water. Please deny the project's permit before it's too late to reclaim and heal our ecosystem. There is no "coexistence" with fossil fuel infrastructure. It's a dying and deathly future for the extraction economy. Take back the ability to recover by denying these exploitative industries with no real investment in the future of Oregon and Washington.

Ron Robinson
Oakland, OR 97462-9802

Our fisheries are still in decline. We are not doing enough to protect them and this terminal would be another nail in it's coffin.

J Stufflebeam
Oregon City, OR 97045-7812

our nation is so pollute already, yes I know, many other places are worse. But truly this should not be a race to the bottom! In spite of the challenge of non-presidential trump, we have worked hard to keep our nation in the best shape possible and will not give up!

Charlotte Kocher
Portland, OR 97227-1063

Our river needs protection from further contamination!

Carrie Phyliky Rimes
Ashland, OR 97520

Please block this abomination! Washington state should not sell its soul for dirty coal dollars. Coal is a killer. It is massively polluting and is a major contributor to human caused global climate change. Please stand up for what is right. Do not authorize this export terminal. Do not build it.

Susan Stone
Beaverton, OR 97007-9755

Please consider the ecological damage that would be caused by your passage of this project! AND... We have no moral right to violate the Indian tribes again.

Regna Merritt
Portland, OR 97210-1075

Please consider what the impacts for clean drinking water for Longview WA and Rainier, OR will be with frequent massive ships parked in and navigating within longview's wellhead protection zone. oil spills, fire, constant deposition of diesel PM, coal dust - with toxic arsenic, Mercury, cadmium, and surfactant - all threaten the Columbia River, surface and groundwater and the health of the community. Low-income people, communities of color, children and the elderly will suffer the most from this water pollution. Would you want coal ships and uncovered acres of coal sitting on your water supply? Please deny this permit and stop this huge threat now!

Jacki Fox Ruby
Grants Pass, OR 97527-2900

Please deny a water pollution permit for the Millennium Bulk Terminal project. Besides the residents of the area, the U.S, Fish and Wildlife Service opposes Millenniums plans as it will pollute the Columbia River with coal dust. Tribes also oppose this project,

Grace Weston
Portland, OR 97217

Please deny Millenium's 401 certification. Granting it would threaten the health and safety of Columbia River's fish, wildlife, and local communities, and flies against Washington state's Antidegradation Policy.

Daniela Steiner
Portland, OR 97202-2036

Please do not approve the coal export terminal for Longview. This project is in direct conflict with our goals for clean water and clean energy. The communities along the Columbia River need your protection. Thank you!

Jdefrancesco Johnson
Silverton, OR 97381

Please do not ignore all the signs . Coal is a polluter.

Joan Sellers
Portland, OR 97233-2315

Please do not issue a permit to allow tons of coal to be transported through Washington State. I live in Portland and am dead against this proposal. Remember what happened in Mosier, Oregon. Please protect the Columbia River and the Pacific NW.

Phil Miotto
Portland, OR 97219

Please do not issue a water pollution permit to Millennium Bulk Terminals for the proposed coal export terminal. As a local resident, I am opposed to Millennium's plans to pollute the Columbia River with coal dust.

Darryl & Diana Boom
Lake Oswego, OR 97034-0037

Please do not let this happen. We have to move beyond coal. This project will do immense harm

Shannon Lucas
Bend, OR 97702-1839

Please do the right thing!

Loree Stclair
Portland, OR 97292

Please don't allow this coal terminal anywhere in the Pacific Northwest Thank you for reading my letter.

Michael Howells
Portland, OR 97202-7738

*Please don't do this to the future. Stop the madness and think of the long term well being of humanity.
This isn't needed at all! History will judge all of this current folly harshly, if we survive to write it.*

Brad Braman
Bend, OR 97703

Please give the struggling fish and wildlife in the Columbia basin a break. They are important to so many people locally, including me, that I can't see the greater benefit of adding to the already long list of things that make their existence precarious. Please don't issue the permit.

Julie Friedman
Bend, OR 97707-2229

Please help protect our environment, our health by stopping this project.

Suzanne Dunford
Medford, OR 97501-3560

Please help reduce greenhouse gas emissions by voting down this proposal.

Lori Minor-swensen
Hillsboro, OR 97124

Please keep our waterways clean and protected.

Joerg Peter
Hillsboro, OR 97123

Please participate of creating a better future for my son! Thanks!

Rebecca Darling
Albany, OR 97321-9537

Maggie Vaughn
Portland, OR 97236-4103

Please stop expanding the archaic, poisonous use of coal for energy.

Debra Wilson
Ashland, OR 97520-8796

PLEASE stop the coal export terminal in Longview, WA! Stop exporting coal to Asia! Reduce climate change and protect our environment!

Cindy Zarzycki
Eugene, OR 97405-4162

Please stop the Millennium Bulk Terminal coal export plan! Please pay attention to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service!

Joyce Sherman
Portland, OR 97230

Please stop this attempt to revive the 19th century in the NW. Asia does not want to rely on coal. This would be a short term operation with possible horrible consequences.

Bonnie And Steve Altshuld
Portland, OR 97219-7425

Please stop this project now!

Melanie Viamonte-lyons
Portland, OR 97223-1003

Please stop this! It is ridiculous to think that coal is a clean option for energy. It wrecks havoc on our environment, and the ecology of the planet. We can spend our money on much better alternatives that are safer and will put us in line to profit in a world economy that is looking for cleaner sources!

Joann Fechner
Portland, OR 97239

Please stop using and shipping dangerous coal! Put energy into renewables.

Lynn Reer
Portland, OR 97219-3375

Please take a strong stand to protect our beautiful nature and our families' health.

Robert Hammond

Brandon Potter

Cottage Grove, OR 97424-1359

Protect our longterm ecosystem services over a short term coal profit. The damage done to fisheries and wildlife is more valuable than the continuation of the dirty coal industry.

Judith Dunlap

Lake Oswego, OR 97034-4103

Protect the Columbia River and local communities. That's your job. Coal dust contamination puts people and wildlife at risk. Do not allow Millennium's project to proceed.

Laura Gordon

Seaside, OR 97138-4621

Protect the Columbia River from coal dust and derailment spills. A few jobs is not worth the risk to the river nor the long term consequences of burning more coal.

The [U.S. Fish and Wildlife] Service has significant concerns regarding the foreseeable impacts of the Millennium Long view Coal Terminal project. The Service believes that the current proposal would have adverse impacts to fish, wildlife, and tribal trust resources

Donna Hortsch
Lake Oswego, OR 97034

The age of coal is diminishing. Cleaner alternatives are more effective.

Norm Cimon
La Grande, OR 97850-1393

The Columbia Basin regularly sees 4-5 week inversions. The amount of coal lost from each car traveling through to Longview, would result in upwards of a million pounds of coal dust ejected into the air and eventually into the waterways of the Columbia River system every day. That means public health, fisheries, air quality, and water quality are all at risk. That's before we talk about the impact on tourism and business with its server farms and the need for clean air to cool them. Please deny this permit, and thank you for undertaking a comprehensive approach to this proposal

Matt Bahm
Corvallis, OR 97333-1840

The Columbia River and it's associated habitats already face difficult obstacles. Don't let another obstacle, with potentially catastrophic consequences, interfere with this great ecosystem. Native peoples depend on the river for their subsistence, and should not be put at risk. This coal will benefit only a few, mostly outside the US, and will leave other more negative consequences for the environment.

Naomi Pusch
Portland, OR 97212

The Columbia River Gorge is an amazing natural resource for all those in the Pacific Northwest. I hope you'll join with me, thousands of local residents, and the US Fish and Wildlife Service to deny a permit for the coal export terminal project. First of all, we all know that exporting coal that will be burned in Asia means increased CO2 in an atmosphere that is already at it's max before dooming us to the worst effects of climate change. But if saving the world isn't enough, the dust from the transport of this coal along the Columbia River is pollution enough. Please save our breathtaking natural resources here in the Pacific Northwest and while you're at it, slow global warming... not just for us, but for the local communities and future generations.

Rachel Cairns
Hermiston, OR 97838-6120

The days of coal are over. Time to turn to renewable sources of energy.

Roger Rocka
Astoria, OR 97103-4419

The economy and livability of the Lower Columbia River are interwoven with its ecology. The Millennium Longview Coal Terminal project threatens all that we have for the benefit of others who have no connection, investment or care for the health and history of our region. And it harms everyone everywhere by increasing release of greenhouse gases. It must not be permitted.

Brian Bucknam
Oceanside, OR 97141

The evidence seems straightforward, the only responsible choice is to deny 401 certification.

Kim Koch
Nehalem, OR 97131

The health of the Columbia River impacts all of us on the North Coast and especially south of the mouth in Oregon. I live on the coast just an hour south of Astoria and our ocean water quality could be seriously compromised by this coal terminal. I am against this terminal. Do not build it!

Meg Hansen
Mulino, OR 97042-8780

The likely, long lasting harm to the local communities and environment make this project dangerous for all who would be negatively impacted. Please stop this project and protect people and planet NOT the proposed profits of the corporate interest groups involved.

Lee Effinger
Salem, OR 97302-4033

The Millennium Longview Coal Terminal project is environmentally unsound. It puts the environment and the population of the surrounding area at risk. There is no overwhelming benefit to anyone, except Millennium. Even other countries which might purchase the greenhouse gas emitting coal are placing their populations and environment at risk The Northwest stands firmly as ecologically responsible and this project has no place on our shores or our rivers. Please deny

Victoria Meier
West Linn, OR 97068-3824

The name of your organization is the Department of Ecology. Please do all you can to support what these words mean to all of us who live together in this system of rivers, land, and air. Coal must be kept in the ground for the healthy future of our local and global ecosystems.

Dorothy Louis
Corvallis, OR 97333-2557

The Pacific Northwest does not deserve to be treated like a waste bin for the coal companies. This terminal must not be allowed. The majority of the people who live here are against it.

Paula Eppler
Happy Valley, OR 97086-3736

The Pacific Northwest is its water. We live because of it, thrive because of it, recreate on it. It's a major life force for those of us who are so very happy here. This project has too great a chance of fouling our water. If you look at projects across the US, you will see fouled water wherever there is coal. There is rarely any meaningful cleanup done and the affected area is damaged for a long, long time, destroying our economy, ecology, our native and domestic animals and our people. Please don't approve this permit.

Diana Richardson
Portland, OR 97239

The plan to put our communities at risk will not be tolerated. You absolutely must not even consider granting a permit. It is immoral. Do the RIGHT THING with the responsibility granted you by the People.

Millie Estrin

The proposed coal export terminal has absolutely no place in Longview, Wa. This puts at risk not only the residents of that city, but puts at risk the Columbia River, as well as contributing to more pollution in the Asian countries that buy this coal.

Paul Borcharding
La Grande, OR 97850-4003

The time to move away from reliance on fossil fuels is now. We need to reset our priorities as a nation and leave the fossil fuels in the ground. Stop the extraction, end the destruction of land, air and water and move to climate friendly renewable energy sources.

Gisela Ray
Gresham, OR 97080-5323

The US should be part of the solution not make climate change worse. What are we thinking? What are we doing to our children and grandchildren? More fossil fuel infrastructure is utter folly when all the new investments should go into conservation and renewables!

Stacie Hall
Oregon City, OR 97045-3461

The USA must focus on renewable energies. It makes no sense to invest in coal and the export terminals to support it.

Tobias Boyd
Portland, OR 97213

The Western States need to lead by example in shifting us from polluting, unsustainable fossil fuels. Thank you for your time.

Carol Hwoschinsky
Ashland, OR 97520-2778

There are more jobs in solar. Coal is dangerous to the planet.

Donna Harris

Bend, OR 97707-2728

There are no long term gains from this disastrous proposal that could out weigh any perceived short term gains. The risks to the special places and environment of the proposed route through the Columbia Gorge are much too high. With the phasing out of the coal industry due to advances in clean energy, there is no common sense here at all in contributing to climate change.

Tom Hopkins

Milwaukie, OR 97267

There are too many problems associated with the mining, transport, and burning of this obsolete fuel. We have to stop it sometime, let's do it now.

Maxine Olsen

This action contradicts useful action on climate change and promotes dismay.

Troutdale, OR 97060-2436

This coal terminal is a bad idea for so many reasons. It should never be built.

Christina Irwin

Lake Oswego, OR 97034-6326

This coal train and Longview shipping terminal MUST NOT BE BUILT!. It endangers the entire Columbia Gorge. It Poisons the land through which it travels with coal dust. It will damage the environment for hundreds of thousands of people living in proximity to the trains. It will tie up train traffic for local Pacific Northwest Commerce. It will adversely affect the Columbia Gorge Scenic Area. Coal is the most dirty fuel, contributing enormously to climate change which is approaching a level which will lead to a cascade of unknown and unimaginable catastrophes. It should stay in the ground. Asia is becoming less reliant on coal. Coal mining is destined to fail soon. Prospective investments in Coal Terminal construction at Longview should be diverted into Clean Green Energy Infrastructure investment which will be more profitable in the short and long term and which will cause economic benefits instead of incalculable environmental, human and financial longterm costs which may prove irreversible and catastrophic.

Howard Seaborn

Portland, OR 97217-5112

This has always been a terrible concept, and anyone reading this knows that the big bucks have no problem ruining the Columbia River. Please stop refusing to listen and can this dinosaur concept.

Andrea Scharf

Yachats, OR 97498-9501

This has been a bad idea from the beginning. We shouldn't be burning coal and neither should anyone else. The immediate impacts on the Columbia River are unacceptable, and a real disaster is always possible--not worth the risk! Please deny the water pollution permit--I mean, the name says it all: a permit to pollute. Unacceptable.

Anthony Sanchez

Cave Junction, OR 97523-9826

This is 2017 not 1917What are you thinking exporting coal?

Chris Buhler

Joseph, OR 97846-0402

This is a backwards step. Put you valuable energy into positive steps towards sustainable energy solutions for the world Like duh.

David Neumann

Gold Beach, OR 97444-1332

This is a step backwards for our country. We face environmental hazards to supply dirty coal to other countries. Not good for us or earth's climate.

Janet Bechtold

Sherwood, OR 97140-7052

This is an outmoded energy source whose day has come. Invest in clean energy to secure a healthy future for the whole planet. Stop this project!

Gabrielle Karras

Portland, OR 97206-7753

This is crazy. We should be moving away from COAL to ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

Jody Guth

Portland, OR 97212-3748

This is the great Pacific Northwest, and we choose to be leaders in halting the impacts of climate change. Shocking that anyone with half a brain is still unable to grasp the havoc wreaked by the continued burning of coal on our earth. Enough! "No" to this export of monumental irresponsibility.

Sheri Miranda

Newport, OR 97365

This is very, very bad for the earth. The focus needs to be on renewable energy in order to stop further pollution and death. And that includes the impact to our very own northwest region.

Sally Cairns

Lebanon, OR 97355-4505

This is wrong on so many levels. Shipping our finite resources overseas which will contribute to global warming, the damage that will be done during the mining operation. I don't understand how and why long term repercussions are not considered. It saddens me.

Sandra Percival

Portland, OR 97204-3419

This must be stopped! Coal is a dying and dirty energy source! Any infrastructure projects should be built renewable energy sources and further serve the US. We are dirtying our country at a terrifying rate and I live in the Northwest! We should stand for better!

Marc Franco

Mcminnville, OR 97128-4113

This port is not needed. China is moving away from coal as well as many other countries. China will sell our coal to other countries that continue to use coal for a profit. Stop with the coal already and look towards more sustainable energy.

Phyllis Oster

Portland, OR 97205-1153

This project has so many things wrong with it. The potential pollution to the Columbia River should be enough to stop it. We should be investing in renewable energy. Thank you

Anthony Davis

Ashland, OR 97520-2742

This project seems counterproductive all around (except for the companies making money on it, of course): encouraging the mining and export of dirty fuels, instead of self-sufficiency based on cleaner energy sources.

Pamela Collord

Oak Grove, OR 97267-3866

This proposal is a terrible idea which could pollute our Columbia River with coal dust thus threatening salmon and other fish as well as destroying habitat for a lot of wildlife. There are too many negative concerns and it is not worth the tradeoffs. Please do not approve it.

Diane Craig

Beaverton, OR 97008-6893

This should NEVER HAPPEN in our region.

Connie Coleman

Portland, OR 97212-1463

This terminal represents unconscionable waste and environmental threat. For the sake of the entire planet, resources should be focused away from coal, and on e.g. helping current Asian importers convert to clean energies. For the sake of the beautiful Northwest US, and the USA as a leader among nations, NO coal terminal.

Laurie Porter

West Linn, OR 97068-3539

This terminal would threaten fish and wildlife and human health. The people have already spoken and said "no"! This should not even be under consideration.

Edward Crist

Corvallis, OR 97333-3960

This would be a gigantic disaster for the Columbia river.

Mary Parham

Lynn/roger Stapes
Dexter, OR 97431

We are a nation moving towards renewable energy. Coal pollutes, coal mining destroys the natural coolant within the earth. It now takes less money to produce energy from wind and solar than coal. Our planet, the only one we can live on is being destroyed. There is no planet B, C, or D. We now have the tech for cleaner power, we must move away from fossil fuel mining, production... for our children...

Charley Tilden
Cottage Grove, OR 97424-9755

We are past the point where coal needs to stay in the ground.....an export terminal is not even about domestic energy security...it's about profits for too few people and damaging the environment...Thank you for reading my letter.

Penny Guinther

We have commented previously about our strong objection to Millennium's proposal. This is a bad idea that must be stopped. A water pollution permit seems to be a good place to call a halt -- needing to pollute water seems to be a sign of just how bad this proposal is! We trust you'll give all the concerns your most serious and thoughtful consideration.

Gary Mac Kendrick

We have fought the battle for years over pollution and rape of the land. We need alternatives that are not so hazardous and we have them, so stop the nonsense with coal!!!!

Esther Breslau
Portland, OR 97227-1052

We have only one planet, ruin it and we are wiped out. We don't need coal. The only reason for the push for coal is that there are billionaires who want their profits. Don't let them have those profits.

Pamela Howard

We have the power to shape the future for our children. It is not about huge bank accounts and houses. Its about a clean planet, with fresh ai,r, pure water, and safe food. The time is now to transition away from coal to cleaner energy. The technolgy is maturing and ready. SAY NO TO DIRTY ENERGY!

Steve Iversen
Mcminnville, OR 97128-1010

David Petree
Mcminnville, OR 97128-8482

We should not destroy our environment just to make a buck. Keep coal in the ground.

Suzanne Dickson
Roseburg, OR 97471-9282

We that live in the beautiful, great Northwest care very much about our clean air, clean water and fantastic salmon runs we have been blessed with. We work hard to maintain our pristine way of life by improving our streams and rivers habitats to benefit the many salmon species, trout, sturgeon and shell fish. Why would you allow a water pollution permit to be issued for this polluting coal export terminal? So one corporation came make money for themselves and harm the efforts of the people of Washington and Oregon. We don't want this coal export terminal. We in the northwest don't burn coal for heat so why should we suffer the effects of terminals pollution. Coal is a energy of the past.

Regina Loos
Portland, OR 97202-3027

We, residents of the Pacific NW, have said NO so often already and yet it is still not clear. What part of our "No Thank You" to this plan of pollution and endangerment to our health and that of the ecology of this beautiful area is not clear? Most people, and the coal companies, know that the era of coal is over. Yet they still want to wring out the last dollar at the expense of the future of the entire earth. Shame! And once more, NO, NO, and NO!

Timothy Stinson

Albany, OR 97321-2448

We're told that US coal exports to Asia--esp. China--reduce the trade gap. A massive externality when we consider the lax/nonexistent pollution controls, &c. Capital's Smoke, like water--& like capital itself--follows the line of least resistance, even if the least resistance is Homo Sap itself.

Margareta Cederroth

What are you thinking? Do you have any concept of what 1 spill could do to the environment? Get your heads out of your POCKETS! COAL is DIRTY! It's a PLANET KILLER. You people need to start putting the safety of people, our precious rivers and fish you'd be killing with the coal dust. This would be an unconscionable decision!!

Why should we have to poison ourselves for Asia???? Say NO to coal terminals in the Pacific NW!

Jerilee Newby

This project is basically a disaster. It would greatly accelerate climate change, endanger communities along the rail route and contribute to air and water pollution. There is substantial opposition from people all across the Northwest, native tribes, even the US Fish and Wildlife Service. Please reject the water pollution permit sought for this project.

Judith Abel

The United States House of Representatives recently passed legislation recognizing global warming/climate change as a threat to national security. The acquisition, transportation and use of fossil fuels is a mayor source of human activity induced climate change and we must stop all fossil fuel related industries until we curtail climate change/global warming.

Anne Albus
Marblehead, MA 01945-2345

We need clean water. Coal is a thing of the past as mankind can now effectively use renewable energy.

Bruce Aldridge
Marietta, GA 30060-5520

What is the difference if tons of coal is used, burnt and ruins the atmosphere in the United States or in China, shipped from a new port in Washington State? In either case, global warming is exacerbated, and in the future, humans would not have a habitable planet. Record heat in the Western States, now the Midwest are causing extreme human discomfort and some deaths; all from using outdated forms of energy that need to stay in the ground. Stop this port from being built, or at least used for export of coal.

The world should not be burning more coal in the face of worsening climate change. The burning of this coal will raise sea levels to a point that the ports handling the coal will no longer be able to operate. This is sheer insanity for the sake of short term profits.

Romalda Allsup
Austin, TX 78703

Don't build more infrastructure for a failing system. Our future depends on us ending our reliance on coal and oil. We need to support cleaner energy and stop propping up the dirty ones. Don't build a new export terminal for coal.

David Alverson
Port Charlotte, FL 33952-1552

i strongly oppose proposed Millenium Bulk Terminals coal terminal. The last thing we need is the promotion of more production, transportation, and burning of the most dirty and environmentally destructive fuel on earth! i urge you to prohibit the construction of the coal export terminal.

How is coal still even a thought to any responsible person when wind and solar are so readily available?

Gene Ammarell
Salt Lake City, UT 84115-2228

Not only will the proposed terminal adversely affect the coast of Washington, it will also encourage further coal extraction in my state of Utah. This, in turn, will mean even dirtier air and illness for millions of people in what is otherwise a pretty healthy place to live. I, for one, may have to move due to the dirty air that comes from coal.

James Amory

Linda Anderson
Chugwater, WY 82210

I am from Wyoming, the state from which a good part of this coal would be shipped. I am totally opposed to opening a coal export terminal. In Wyoming we have endless clean energy sources to be developed, including solar, thermal, hydro, and wind, that would bring new jobs and cleaner energy to Wyoming and the world. As long as certain special interests keep trying to force continued coal development, Wyoming will be the source of carbon pollution wherever the coal is shipped. We can build and are building a green energy economy, but we need the market for coal to keep declining. We have plenty of natural gas that is cleaner and cheaper than coal as well. It makes no sense to enlarge the market for a carbon rich fuel as if having it burned in Asia instead of the US solves the problem. Please stand strong in the fight against global warming by refusing to participate in enlarging the use of coal worldwide. We all have to pass by some short term gains in order to protect our long term future, and the coal terminal is one of those situations. I am requesting that you refuse all permits associated with the coal export terminal in the interests of slowing global warming before it is too late.

We need to move beyond coal and oil, not expand production. Exporting it to Asia is nuts! Everyone in Beijing wears masks on their faces now because of the terrible air pollution, and the wind blows west to east -- guess who breathes it next -- the USA. Saving the earth is much more important than supplying coal to foreign countries.

From cradle to grave, coal is THE dirtiest, and most damaging to the environment, of all carbonaceous fuels. What's more, we do not need it (with the possible exception of the small quantities needed to make steel): far more energy than the whole of humanity can possibly consume is available from just two sustainable, clean, safe, inexhaustible and widely-distributed sources, the Sun and the wind. Why, then, coal -- or any other "fossil" fuel? M O N E Y.

Dan Avery
Butte, MT 59701

There should be no improvements made to facilitate use of coal. It is a major contributor to global warming, and the proposed terminal would be an unhealthy addition to residents of Washington and Oregon in the Longview area and downstream to the mouth of the Columbia River. Sensible Asian countries are trying to eliminate use of coal. It makes no sense to build a facility to attempt to increase their use.

The use of coal has for over a century caused toxic damage to many states on the east coast who are trying to lift themselves out of the coal economy. Why would the Washington Department of Ecology want to be responsible for approving this backward thinking project. The mining, transportation and use of coal has polluted rivers, streams, landscapes and the lungs of inhabitants and fish and wildlife world wide. This is not the time or place for Washington State to be contributing to the generation of greenhouse gas pollution in Asia or more air pollution, toxic water and higher temperatures world wide. Do not participate in creating more dead zones in our global environment as we are all part of a web of life that is bigger than us but its destruction has unforeseen ramifications for all life on the planet, putting local as well as global populations at risk. Coal equals massive pollution and building the largest coal export terminal is not a project the state can claim reinforces the greater good of all life. *Millennium Bulk Terminals Longview - Coal Export Terminal - Section 401 Water Quality Certification
Dear Washington Department of Ecology: I urge Ecology to protect water quality in the Columbia River and countless streams and rivers that would be harmed by Millennium's coal trains. Ecology has received unprecedented expert testimony from Tribes, state and federal agencies, impacted communities, and the people of the Pacific Northwest to deny Millennium's proposal. Based on this record, we urge Ecology to deny the 401 certification. Ecology must deny the 401 certification because Millennium's project would violate Washington State's water quality standards, harm designated uses, and contravene the state's Antidegradation Policy. The project also flies in the face of our region's commitment to combat the devastating impacts of climate change. Millennium's oversized ambitions to rebrand the Pacific Northwest the coal export capital of the United States conflict with the public interest in thriving local economies, clean water, clean energy, and healthy communities.*

This project is wrong in every way. Coal is a dying industry, as it should be, since cleaner energy sources are taking its place. You can always tell where the coal trains run. The ties and ballast rocks are darker and the vegetation within a hundred feet has a noticeable grit coating. Coal is so obsolete. Get with the times and invest in solar energy, not a port to ship that dirty energy overseas. The detrimental impact of this project, this investment by Millennium Bulk Terminals on the environment, the wildlife and humans is greater than the financial Return on investment. Time to put this dirty proposal to rest.

The Columbia River is one of the US's wonderful treasures and should be protected. There is no good purpose in endangering the river and its ecosystem by constructing a coal export terminal to ship tons of coal to Asia. We are in the 21st century now, and we know that coal is not sustainable. We also know that coal is a rapidly dying industry. In addition, coal, even the alleged "clean" coal, is a major pollutant of our air and our water. Please say NO to this dreadful proposal and to seek supporting business efforts which use and produce sustainable energy.

Louise Calabro

I personally oppose having more coal transported across our community to pollute our air and water.

Debbie Caldieri
Amherst, MA 01002-1372

Haven't we polluted the environment enough already? I am vehemently against this Longview Coal Terminal project, as it would pollute the Columbia River, killing its fish, and surrounding flora and fauna, endangering the surrounding communities. That would do the exact opposite of what the past few decades have been trying to accomplish: cleaning up our rivers, streams, and waterways, along with the environment.

Mary Caldwell

NO coal exports.

Michael Callan
Louisville, KY 40299-6146

The world doesn't need more coal and exporting it for a few years won't save the industry here. The coal industry is dirty and its dying. Investing millions into a terminal that will be shutdown as soon as the democrats regain control in about 3.5 years means there will be no return on the investment. Life in the Harbor in however will be feeling the negative Washington for decades if not longer. Please Do the right thing, not the misguided or greedy thing, and stand up for our environment.

Elizabeth Callicoat
Durant, OK 74701

I absolutely oppose this project. It represents short-term thinking and the placement of greed above the sustainability of human life. We cannot afford more greenhouse gas in our atmosphere. At what point do we choose life above profit? Please deny this permit request. Mining, transporting and burning coal will only increase our atmospheric temperatures. We're already on the brink of no return from climate disaster; the climate is quickly changing and we may very well cause our own extinction. The Washington Department of Ecology has a chance to stop this! I repeat, please don't approve the Millennium Bulk Terminal's permit request. Thank you!

Millennium Bulk Terminals has had a proposal in the works for over six years to construct a coal export terminal that would ship 44 million tons of coal annually to Asia via Longview, Washington, putting our local communities at risk. It would also generate more greenhouse gas pollution in Asia, contributing to climate change. The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service also opposes Millennium's plans to pollute the Columbia River with coal dust. The Service believes that the current proposal would have adverse impacts to fish, wildlife, and tribal trust resources. I join people across the Northwest, Tribes, Earthjustice, and concerned individuals who oppose this massive project and I urge the Washington Department of Ecology to deny the 401 certification for Millennium's project.

A coal export terminal in Washington is not economic, not needed and would only contribute to more environmental degradation, leaving aside the subsidized profits its promoters would hope to receive. Serious policies to reduce fossil fuels use are necessary. Economic alternatives to coal are available and increasingly in use. Any governmental policy which prolongs fossil fuel dominance will harm the nation economically and increase the probability of catastrophic climate change.

Millenium Bulk Terminals is pushing pollution and placing profit above the well-being of citizens and the planet. This terminal would cause more deaths by pollution and raise pollution levels just by selling coal to other countries. Greed will kill our planet and the terminal would ruin lands waters and the air. Please stop lying to yourself and the people of our nation about coal being a viable means of increasing employment or a cost-effective increase in our energy production. So many costs of burning coal for electrical energy are not included in the pricing and market forces of coal extraction, transportation, and use, especially the suffering and annual deaths of tens of thousands of people in the US due to particulate and chemistry-related health and safety damage to our air and water. We can and must do better than to push coal as any kind of solution other than a very temporary and non-growing component of our nation's energy systems. Thank you.

We do not need a huge coal export terminal. I am sure that the people on the west coast are fearful for many reasons. We should not be expanding the mining or export of dirty coal. It pollutes the air and it gets into the water to make it toxic. It is also a dangerous industry for workers health. This is not a clean industry or a renewable which the world should be working toward. There have been too many accidents that have happened and many still are not totally cleaned up.

We don't need to export the products of devastation such as coal, or build facilities that enable pollution levels to increase in already overburdened and degraded planet. Coal is dead. China has cancelled over 100 plants in January 2017. India cancelled nearly 14 gigawatts of coal plants in favor of solar and wind, as the price of clean technology plummets. Most other countries are rethinking dirty energy projects, so this high impact project looks likely to be unnecessary, out of time and out of place. The U.S. needs to rethink it's own energy policies and quickly divest from climate wrecking fossil fuels. This project will have severe and adverse local and global impacts, should it get permitted. Please put the protection of our environment and the quality of life of local residents across the Northwest, as well as the future of our planet to the forefront of any decision on the Millennium Longview Coal Terminal Project. Millions of Americans -- and an increasing percentage every year -- are suffering from debilitating, disabling and fatal diseases and conditions directly attributed to coal, oil and gas mining, refining and shipping. Our rivers and streams are already under enormous stress due to the extant pollution and increased demand. It is insane to allow a pollutant known to be dangerous to the environment and public health, to enter any American river, especially from a product that will increase CO2 pollution through its use. This coal terminal is already outdated since coal use is declining and alternative energy will replace coal. Communities along the rail tracks are definitely against this terminal as we are polluted with coal dust every time coal trains go by. You can see the coal particles alongside the rail tracks. The rail system in Great Falls is not the best and we do not want more coal trains traveling through town leaving toxic coal dust in their wake. The health of citizens and our planet is critical as we find the climate getting much warmer - coal use promotes more greenhouse gases in our atmosphere which we do not need! Coal is a dinosaur fuel that no longer has a place in our energy picture. It needs to be retired as a fuel source. Much cleaner, renewable forms of energy should be at the forefront of our energy use. Investing in a facility that will distribute polluting coal to Asia via the Millennium Bulk terminal is a step in the opposite direction and must be halted. For the health of the planet and mankind, the project should be aborted.

*RE: Millennium Bulk Terminals Longview - Coal Export Terminal - Section 401 Water Quality Certification
Dear Washington Department of Ecology: I urge Ecology to protect water quality in the Columbia River and countless streams and rivers that would be harmed by Millennium's coal trains. Ecology has received unprecedented expert testimony from Tribes, state and federal agencies, impacted communities, and the people of the Pacific Northwest to deny Millennium's proposal. Based on this record, we urge Ecology to deny the 401 certification. Ecology must deny the 401 certification because Millennium's project would violate Washington State's water quality standards, harm designated uses, and contravene the state's Antidegradation Policy. The project also flies in the face of our region's commitment to combat the devastating impacts of climate change. Millennium's oversized ambitions to rebrand the Pacific Northwest the coal export capital of the United States conflict with the public interest in thriving local economies, clean water, clean energy, and healthy communities. Thank you for reading my letter.*

Cindy Hackman
Penllyn, PA 19422-1129

Why the rush back to less enlightened times? It makes no sense to move away from coal in our country only to export the problem to other areas. It's one world and we should be concerned about its health.

Debbie Hunsberger

Like so many things, the rhetoric from the president on coal is just wrong. Coal is at the very top of the dirty fuels list and the technology to actually make it "clean" is far to expensive to ever be practical. It is a 19th century era fuel and we can not afford to allow it's expanded use or poisonous smoke into our environment. In the words of one of the popular resale sites today, it's time to "Let Go."

*RE: Millennium Bulk Terminals Longview - Coal Export Terminal - Section 401 Water Quality Certification
Dear Washington Department of Ecology: I urge Ecology to protect water quality in the Columbia River and countless streams and rivers that would be harmed by Millennium's coal trains. Ecology has received unprecedented expert testimony from Tribes, state and federal agencies, impacted communities, and the people of the Pacific Northwest to deny Millennium's proposal. Based on this record, we urge Ecology to deny the 401 certification. Ecology must deny the 401 certification because Millennium's project would violate Washington State's water quality standards, harm designated uses, and contravene the state's Antidegradation Policy. The project also flies in the face of our region's commitment to combat the devastating impacts of climate change. Millennium's oversized ambitions to rebrand the Pacific Northwest the coal export capital of the United States conflict with the public interest in thriving local economies, clean water, clean energy, and healthy communities.*

If we had a carbon tax, we would not be talking about a coal export terminal. We would not be digging up Federal lands in the west. We would not be polluting our streams and rivers. We would not be creating a haze of coal dust along our railroads and around our terminals. Because it would not make economic sense. We need to leave some carbon reserves in the ground if we are going to survive. Dirty, damaging coal is the prime candidate. Please block this terminal.

I am writing to urge you maintain federal Endangered Species Act protections for gray wolves in most of the lower-48 states. A blanket, premature delisting of gray wolves across much of this country would severely threaten gray wolf recovery in the United States. There are still few, if any, gray wolves in the vast majority of their former range. If the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service removes gray wolf federal protections, wolves in the Pacific Northwest, California, the southern Rocky Mountains, and the Northeast will face even more difficult odds than they do already. Maintaining federal protections for wolves across the lower-48 states is important for preserving already-limited opportunities for wolves to recover in additional parts of the United States, and to encourage wolves to mingle with the Yellowstone population--the most genetically isolated population of gray wolves in the northern Rockies. Wolves are a keystone species--their presence is critical to maintaining the structure and integrity of their native ecosystems. I urge you to cancel plans to delist the gray wolf across much of the lower-48 states. Such a delisting would be premature and disastrous for gray wolf recovery in the United States.

There is absolutely no benefit to the United States in granting a water pollution permit to Millennium Bulk Terminals. The benefits would be to the proposed terminal, now six years underway in its attempt to wear down opposition to shipping 44 million tons of coal a year from Longview Washington near the confluence of the Cowlitz and Columbia Rivers and to the greater coal industry. There is plenty of disadvantage in granting the permit. Climate change is a real problem happening right under our national nose. Burying heads in sand is an old-fashioned way to make serious problems go away. It is not known to work. The WA Department of Ecology should not grant Section 401 Water Quality Certification to Millennium.

Millennium Bulk Terminals has had a proposal in the works for over six years to construct a coal export terminal that would ship 44 million tons of coal annually to Asia via Longview, Washington, putting our local communities at risk. It would also generate more greenhouse gas pollution in Asia, contributing to climate change. But every step of the way the coal company has met with opposition from people across the Northwest, Tribes, a legal team and concerned individuals who want to keep this massive project from being approved. I am asking the Washington Department of Ecology not to issue a key water pollution permit for the project. It's not just residents who are against the project. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service also opposes Millennium's plans to pollute the Columbia River with coal dust as the agency said in its statement: "The [U.S. Fish and Wildlife] Service has significant concerns regarding the foreseeable impacts of the Millennium Longview Coal Terminal project. The Service believes that the current proposal would have adverse impacts to fish, wildlife, and tribal trust resources...The Service believes that the SEPA co-leads [i.e., the Washington Department of Ecology and Cowlitz County] should recommend against approval of this proposed facility/project."

Marc Loran

No doubt my residency in California makes this comment less urgent, none the less: I hope your agency will take a leadership role by considering the real long view that our ability to deal with the degradation of earth's ecological systems can only be prevented by elimination the use of all fossil fuels as soon as possible. Stopping Millenium Bulk Terminals plan, though maybe sacrificing a few jobs now will help preserve a world where jobs can even exist. Your sincere consideration of this life or death issue is really necessary.

Any publicly-supported, or private commercial endeavor, that will have the effect of facilitating or increasing fossil fuel extraction is bad policy. Shipping a major air pollution source like coal across the country and then sending it across the Pacific ocean in ships that are themselves major sources of pollution is bad policy. All of the resources involved should instead be used to build renewable energy infrastructure and pay for jobs that can be sustainable and that do not further endanger climate stability.

Climate change, on its present course, will be catastrophic to our economy and environment as well as to the health and safety of mankind. Scientist and military experts are showing us what needs to be done and that is: to keep fossil fuels in the ground. Unfortunately too many people don't yet see the urgency of this. It's not just residents who are against the project. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service also opposes Millennium's plans to pollute the Columbia River with coal dust as the agency said in its statement: "The [U.S. Fish and Wildlife] Service has significant concerns regarding the foreseeable impacts of the Millennium Longview Coal Terminal project. The Service believes that the current proposal would have adverse impacts to fish, wildlife, and tribal trust resources...The Service believes that the SEPA co-leads [i.e., the Washington Department of Ecology and Cowlitz County] should recommend against approval of this proposed facility/project."

Mary Ann Mcdonald

Ice caps are shrinking and glaciers are melting at a record pace - the permafrost is permanent no longer, and we almost lost our doomsday seed vault. Storms are getting larger and increasing in violence, damage caused, and lives lost; earthquakes are becoming common in areas never subject to them before. There are record numbers of children and adults with asthma. We are quickly running out of fresh drinking water, because the toxins and hazardous chemicals from pipeline spills and mining dumps are polluting our waterways and aquifers. These are but a few of the problems with continued fossil-fuel proliferation and use... they are killing our people, our water and land, and the planet. With cheap green, renewable energy now readily available, and our planet more at risk than ever before, deadly and outdated fossil fuel use MUST STOP NOW !

Pamela Mcdonald
Riverside, CA 92505

Your state and its shoreline are so beautiful and pristine. Imagine how devastating an oil spill would be. As a California resident, I've experienced the devastation to ocean, land, and the animals that live in and around the spill. Is it wrong to want to preserve the natural state? Is money worth it, watching your coastline be enveloped in oil, birds and fish, some dead, some struggling to just breathe? It is sadly inevitable that a damaging event will happen, and when it does, it will be too late.

Holly Mcdonald
Robbinsville, NJ 08691

I urgently ask the Washington Department of Ecology and Cowlitz County to reject approval of the Millennium Longview Coal Terminal Project once and for all. Our clean water and clean air will be put in extreme jeopardy from coal dust, and greenhouse gases will increase significantly if this facility is allowed to move forward, which must not happen. America's clean water sources must be protected now and for the future as the birthright they are for all citizens. Our environment cannot be destroyed to benefit the short-sighted greed of the private coal industry. Please do not approve the 401 Water Certification request under consideration.

Coal is not the direction we should be pursuing at this fragile point in time. We need to be saving our planet not damaging it more. President Trump made promises to Big Coal. Just the fact that a "pollution permit" is necessary should be a strong indicator that this approval would be an atrocious decision for the effected communities. Absolutely no entity should be allowed to jeopardize the clean water and environment of another area where there is, essentially no other motive than profit! Just the issue of contaminating the local clean water, a basic need for life, should be a deal killer. Any permit, for a non essential product for this locale, for this project would appear as a dereliction of duty to protect the people and environment of this area and ultimately the tax paying citizens who will be required to repair the inevitable damages of this project!

Coal as an energy source has come to its natural end. Legislation reducing its value and favoring real clean energy sources need to find their roles replacing coal. The proposal at hand is counterproductive at best and dangerously expensive at its worst. Your work as leaders must act accordingly, beginning with Secretary Pruitt. As a resident of the Hudson Valley watching a debate about oil barge use of the river and all that this might bring in terms of risk, and as a person who studied river pollution as part of my master's degree in hazards from Rutgers University, I find this proposal to construct a coal export terminal concerning at best and a terrible example of the backwards steps we are seeing in the US in the name of profit and big energy. I urge you to deny the water pollution permit for the sake of community health (I strongly suspect that the communities that will be most affected will not be those in which the upper middle class and wealthy reside) and the wildlife and river ecosystem more generally. Now that the coal industry is losing opportunities in the US and Canada, it begins to turn its focus to Asia. Profit should not be the end game. I grew up in Idaho and lived in the Seattle area. I had relatives that lived outside the Portland area and we visited there. I still have family in the Pacific Northwest. Coal should be eliminated from being used because of the harmful effects on our environment and climate change. There are too many harmful effects here in the US and also where the coal will be used.

Coal as an industry is already dead. It's use will and is killing our planet making it difficult for humans to survive as soon as 2070. No amount of greed or selfishness justifies this mindless terminal. DO NOT ALLOW IT TO PROCEED UNDER ANY CIRCUMSTANCES.

Jonathan Povill
Topanga, CA 90290-3538

Burning coal is hideously irresponsible from an environmental perspective and, as climate change inflicts ever more damage on the planet, it will likely be outlawed at some point. Even if it is still permitted, it will surely be entirely supplanted by cheaper, cleaner, sources of energy. Accordingly, this project also makes no sense from an economic perspective as it is infrastructure for an obsolete industry -- analogous to building new typewriter or buggy whip factories. To pollute the Columbia River with coal dust for the sake of helping coal miners extract the last dollar possible from their industry would be the height of immoral, irresponsible short sightedness. Please prevent this project from going forward. Thank you.

Felix Prael
San Diego, CA 92121

I recall a couple of years ago, visiting family and friends in Sydney, reading in "The Sydney Morning Herald" an op-ed by an ex-CEO in the fossil-fuel industry, in which he argued that business-as-usual by his heirs was a "crime against humanity." Those words could be applied accurately to what would be our largest coal export terminal.

S Rand

We don't need to destroy our environment in order for a few shortsighted companies to profit from what is not theirs. We don't need to ship coal to Asia. We need to focus on alternate fuels, and not contribute to our very real suicidal run toward global climate change. Washington state should be a leader in the effort to get rid of fossil fuel, and to concentrate on other non-polluting industries, including the very valuable tourist industry. I certainly don't want to visit a coastline wrecked by greed. Think about your legacy. How will your great grandchildren feel about you squandering their birthright? Do the right thing.

This also makes no economic sense. Coal is clearly on the way out. It is now one of the more expensive ways to get fuel, a trend that shows no signs of stopping. Coal is unhealthy for people from the beginning, when mining it, through the transportation of it, and terrible for our planet's attempt to combat climate change when burnt. The state will regret permitting this project.

"The [U.S. Fish and Wildlife] Service has significant concerns regarding the foreseeable impacts of the Millennium Longview Coal Terminal project. The Service believes that the current proposal would have adverse impacts to fish, wildlife, and tribal trust resources...The Service believes that the SEPA co-leads [i.e., the Washington Department of Ecology and Cowlitz County] should recommend against approval of this proposed facility/project."

Thank you for reading my letter. I am flabbergasted that this project would still be considered in light of the dire state China's air quality is in due to burning coal!!!! Most days no one goes outside and children can't even go to school! they have enclosed playgrounds that shield them from the outside air!! Thousands of people die every year from respiratory diseases and cancers, lung infections, etc! Also the enormous risks of this ships having an accident and dumping toxic coal into the ocean is TOO great-along with ALL the other obvious reasons NOT to drill, blast, mine or ship coal!!! TIME TO JOIN the 21st century and INVEST IN CLEAN RENEWABLE energy!!!! China has also doubled their investments in Solar, Wind and has stated they want to lead the world in this industry by 2020-I have NO doubt they will-so why ship ANY coal to them??? They also stayed in the Paris Agreement-and should be true to that and commit to reducing emissions-as should ANY responsible, ethical business that has any morals or values!!! SHAME ON Millennium Bulk Terminals Longview LLC!!! YOU do NOT have forward-thinking people and should change your name to just Bulk Terminals! Burning coal WILL NOT ensure we will be around for Millenniums!!!

Christopher Scherer
Greenbelt, MD 20770-1857

The proposed terminal does not even help the USA. Not at all ! (The ONLY ones it helps are a few corporations.) Building it would make a BIG 'mess' in its proposed area, harming local wildlife. Plus, just to BURN over 40 million tons of coal a year ANYWHERE will only cause more climate disruption (due to 'green-house gas' emissions). So - let's just call the whole thing off. PLEASE.

Bob Schildgen
Berkeley, CA 94703-1630

The world does not need more coal, because burning it contributes massively to pollution and global warming. Period. This alone makes the Millennium Bulk Terminals proposal to build a terminal to ship 44 million tons of coal from Longview, Washington, is a preposterous idea.

As a country, we now have a history of environmental awareness. To a large degree, that awareness is based on trial-and-error learning - that is, awareness of the issue does not take place until after damage - sometimes irreparable - has occurred. The silver lining to that dark cloud is this: those past errors have educated us, and now they can - and SHOULD - serve as gatekeepers for our decision making. Our nation has an immense amount of data showing how pollution from an active coal industry can devastate the regions where mining, extraction, transport and use of that coal is occurring. Many experts believe the coal industry as we know it, is in its final death throes. If we are to continue using coal, that must occur within a complete and totally new paradigm. Such a paradigm does not currently exist. Which brings us to Millennium Bulk Terminals' proposal to construct a coal export terminal. Our earth's history with coal should make the environment costs of this proposal crystal clear. We can now longer claim ignorance regarding outcomes. PLEASE

I write in strongest opposition to any permit for the "Millennium Bulk Terminals Longview" coal terminal at Longview, Washington. This terminal would constitute an ecological disaster at every step in the life-cycle of the coal, from its mining, through transport, to combustion in its intended Chinese power plants. The Longview export terminal frustrates the maintenance of a planet that can sustain human life, and serves no other valid purpose, and must therefore be rejected by the Department of Ecology. This project is one of five such export terminal proposals that would export on the order of 150 million tons of coal through the Pacific Northwest. This volume of coal would constitute an unmitigated ecological disaster, in violent opposition to Governor Inslee's objective, as well as America's existential interest in, reduction of carbon dioxide emissions. DOE must exercise its jurisdiction to keep its portion of the Pacific Coast free of these suicidal coal-export proposals, starting with Longview. The State of Washington has expressed an overall goal of moving toward a lower-carbon economy, and to avoid the worst impacts of global warming. If these goals are to have any meaningful policy expression within the agencies, such as DOE, tasked with carrying out State government policy, then DOE cannot issue this permit at Longview. This terminal would be linked via rail lines and riverine barges to some of the largest carbon bombs in North America, namely the coalfields of eastern Montana and Wyoming, and human survival demands that this coal remain securely underground. The MBTL terminal, and its sister proposals along the Pacific Northwest coast, would be especially and painfully ironic for a pair of states that have otherwise made admirable and meritorious progress in shifting to clean energy and ecological sustainability more broadly. I am a former resident of the Oregon coast (Newport), and I can scarcely fathom the horrific reversal of ecological paradigm that these coal-export terminals would constitute. The Pacific Northwest's role in the global energy infrastructure would invert from a leader in the low-carbon transition, to a conduit of death for the highest-carbon fuels on Earth. I understand the MBTL terminal would convey up to 44 million tons of coal annually, a disastrous setback in American efforts to restrain carbon emissions. The State of Washington has already committed itself to regional greenhouse gas reduction initiatives, and even though the initiatives are not yet self-enforcing, these coal-export terminals would dwarf any carbon reductions attained in those frameworks. To issue any permits for the MBTL terminal would therefore be a contrary and irreconcilable action. Even the smallest scope of environmental analysis, the terminal itself and the proximate impact to the local natural and human environment, shows the MBTL proposal to be grossly unacceptable. The coal shipping traffic through the Columbia River, the local air and water pollution, congestion, and destruction of the community ambiance, would transform the local area into a purgatory of industrial misery. The river ecosystem, whose marine mammals and fisheries are already under severe stress from hydroelectric dams, fishing pressure, and water quality degradation, would face another maelstrom of industrial pollution, noise, and physical displacement. The residents of Longview, and other communities for whom this permit would set a precedent, did not necessarily move there to experience one of America's largest commodity export projects operating more hours than not. Persons wishing a full-time industrial experience have ample other places in America to live, and Longview need not be one of them. Again, please reject any Department of Ecology permits for the " Millennium Bulk Terminals Longview" coal export terminal, and keep the Pacific Northwest coast from initiating a literal "millennium" of global climate catastrophe.

Building more coal infrastructure at this time only ties us yet again to more climate destroying CO2 emissions. ALL of our effort and innovation and funding should be directed toward the end of fossil fuel consumption----a CO2-AND-OTHER-GREENHOUSE-GAS FREE FUTURE. The lives of all future generations depend on this. Climate change is the single most dire problem facing all of humanity. If we don't solve the problem of climate change, all of our many other problems become irrelevant.

Dr. John D. Stickle, D.c.
Cloverdale, CA 95425

Either we are going to make the crucial and absolutely necessary transition from fossil fuels Or we are going to continue to fund fossil fuels and risk Everything, including our One Planet. We have to make a choice. Building a coal export terminal is clearly the Wrong Choice. Listen to the people, the smarter federal agencies and consider what is the Best course of action for our One Planet. If you do, then there can be No other choice other than saying No to a coal export terminal. No today, not ever. Make it so.

I think it is obscene for Millennium to try to profit from one of the dirtiest fuels on our planet while completely disregarding the health of said planet and all its inhabitants. The local negative effects are clear and need to be carefully considered. I am not local but live near one of the railroads that would carry much of this coal. The coal unit trains are dirty and disruptive. They block road crossings which in many cases are the only access to parts of the local areas. In a nearby town they block access from the fire station to most of the area it serves. The extra minutes until a fire truck can cross can be deadly.

We want renewable, green energy to be exported, NOT COAL. Lead in wind, solar, geothermal, hydro - NOT in polluting old fuels. Americans should not be sacrificing their lives nor their environment for coal. It adds to the insult that is just sold abroad meaning American people are sacrificing their lives and our environment JUST for the profit of a few corporations and the election contributions made by those corporations. Human life and health should be worth MORE than blood money profits for a few. Global climate change is here - look at the frequent flooding in Florida, look at the island nation being abandoned due to being submerged, look around and see the damage fossil fuels are doing and thus that this coal export terminal would do. Get a conscience and get some glasses so you can see straight and farther than your own wallets. Act on behalf of ALL AMERICANS instead of a handful of fat cats and the pols feeding from their hands.

Millennium Bulk Terminals has had a proposal in the works for over six years to construct a coal export terminal that would ship 44 million tons of coal annually to Asia via Longview, Washington, putting our local communities at risk. It would also generate more greenhouse gas pollution in Asia, contributing to climate change. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service opposes Millennium's plans to pollute the Columbia River with coal dust as the agency said in its statement: "The [U.S. Fish and Wildlife] Service has significant concerns regarding the foreseeable impacts of the Millennium Longview Coal Terminal project. The Service believes that the current proposal would have adverse impacts to fish, wildlife, and tribal trust resources...The Service believes that the SEPA co-leads [i.e., the Washington Department of Ecology and Cowlitz County] should recommend against approval of this proposed facility/project."
