

Molly Severns

Coal contributes to climate change, is dangerous to transport, and degrades the earth in the extraction process. The terminal is bad for human health and does not provide the same positive job impact that investment in renewables would provide our community. Stop the project.