Regarding the proposed Millennium Bulk Terminals in Longview, Washington, I am strongly opposed to such an insane idea. Having any coal terminals in this area is a mistake, having the largest coal terminal in North America would be a disaster. We live in one of the most beautiful and pristine places in the US. We all love this area and want to keep its natural beauty and clean environment. Coal is one of the filthiest fossil fuels, not only when it is burnt, but when it is transported because of the coal dust which gets in the air, and eventually our lungs. It will pollute our waterways and poison our air. And fossil fuels are economically bad investments. Fossil fuels are not the future, and coal is going out faster than all of them.

Please deny this application for the sake of Washington State and all of the Pacific Northwest. And you will be doing not only the smart thing, but the right thing.

Thank you,

Jane Huey
