

Steve Simmons

This project is badly needed in a community that has high unemployment. All Washingtonians should be allowed to participate in our State's economic recovery. Additionally, this project will have no affect on global climate change.