

William Codd

We all must realise by now that coal is a non starter. We have got to move to renewable sources if we're going to slowdown global warming