

Suzanna McCarthy

There are clean energy options that neither harm the producers nor the uses of the energy. I have spent much time in Kentucky and have work with miners who suffer terribly from their work in the coal mines. Give people clean energy jobs. Make clean energy available to families. Protect the environment from coal dust getting in our lungs, eyes, nose. Do what is right for the planet and it's inhabitants.