

Diane Fink

One of the wonderful things about Seafood is that is fresh and free of poisons. I would not eat oysters that have had this substance used on them, raw or cooked. I have seen oyster beds in Pacific County, where I used to reside, that are elevated instead of in the mud. As a consumer I would be very concerned with this plan and how it might impact other species of marine life.