

Ed Gullekson

We do not yet know the long-term effects of these chemicals and what we do know is that they have very bad side effects. While the application of the chemicals is "limited" the effects spread beyond the initial boundaries and because it is a biological system we don't know final damage until too late.