

David Corrion

I do not support the proposal from WA. DOE placing the proposed limits on rural Whatcom county wells. The rural wells draw less than 1% from the aquifer and 95% of that is returned. The wells are not the problem so this action is not the solution. It will cause rural property de-valuation and restriction. The burden for a long term solution is unfairly being placed on rural landowners. City and community water systems contribute to water use from various sources but do not shoulder the same level of burden as rural landowners. A solution should be arrived at that is comprehensive and fair to all.