

James Montonye

Given the abundance of water in this county and a likely much greater need for much improved fisheries enforcement offshore and along our rivers, I suggest that Ecology focus first on one or two piezometers logically placed within each of our 9 aggregated sub-basins in order to be set up to react with "onsite water recharges" having much less impact on well owners once the top four items in the "North Puget Fish, Fishers, Farms & Farmers!" page given to Amy Mather & others today in Ferndale are well underway -- my 1-pager's DOC form for some reason would not transmit herewith.