

John Strauch

As an effected taxpayer of your decision making on my water rights, I urge you to make no changes to the current laws and restrictions to this vital resource. I am my own water company, fully funded by my own sweat and capital. I have a vested interest in maintaining a healthy supply and outflow, and any further interference by local government will have a detrimental effect on my family. I fear metering and restrictions will cost my family both in dollars and full use of our land. Please take this into consideration and do not enact further restrictions as outlined in your planned regulations.
