

Kevin Gallagher

After more than 40 years of knowing about the public health dangers posed by PCBs, why has the Washington Department of Ecology never required Spokane River polluters to control the PCB pollution coming out of their pipes, thereby failing to meet the requirements of the Clean Water Act to limit the amount of PCBs that are piped into the river.

Thank you.