

Gerald Birch

This might sound crazy, but I think to help the Orcas we humans need to cut back on eating wild salmon. I see in stores advertise wild caught salmon and I wonder how many of these salmon were taken from the Orcas. Orcas need the salmon more than we do, we only eat it because it a luxury fish. We could eat other fish that can be just as good and reduce the taking of salmon. If everyone cutback on the eating of salmon I think the salmon population would increase dramatically over time. Think about it! It wouldn't be hard to do, if people cared about the Orcas.

Hope this idea is helpful in some way.

Have a great day,

Jerry