

Andrew Schiffer

Keep the extraction wells on, and keep cleaning the water plume. The plume should not be allowed to advance any farther, and so the water must be continued to be treated and the extraction wells have to keep working.