

Helen Ganahl

I understand that GE has tried several cleanup methods, and I appreciate that this is an expensive endeavor for them; however, they are responsible for the TCE plume and the efforts extraction wells need to continue. The Department of Ecology has conveyed that the extraction wells are the most effective effort yet in stopping the movement of groundwater contamination. Keep it up and pay for it GE! People in neighborhoods across Seattle are paying attention.