

Lisa Coley

This proposal is very misleading as the only reason they are requesting to "upgrade" their system is to increase production which will then increase pollutants and particulates. This is not being done out of concern for the environment but only to increase the amount of product they can send down the line and money they can make. Reject this construction order until the company can figure out how to increase productivity and reduce pollution from it's current levels.