

DORIN USA

The use of any HFCs can nowadays be avoided; natural refrigerants options are available for any kind of format or system sizes, they are at least as efficient as HFCs system. Natural refrigerants system costs is still higher but this can be addressed with driving correctly industry leaders investment toward the development of natural refrigerants solutions: the generated volumes will help decreasing natural refrigerants system costs; nowadays in Europe natural refrigerants system has reached cost parity with HFCs systems.