

Julia Sutton

What happens to this site in severe conditions such as an earthquake or tsunami? While I do agree that something must be done, it would be best to hold a public hearing to address local concerns.