

Liz Marshall

At least one public hearing should be held. This is such a critical topic that several opportunities for current public input should be created.