I'm interested in the current status of the Cornwall Landfill and would appreciate a public meeting in Bellingham to update community members on the progress of the project. I'm interested to know if the project is going as planned, if it's on-schedule, and if any special challenges have come up. What are the long-term, residual effects at this site? I think it's important that citizens are up-to-date on this project, especially in light of waterfront revitalization plans. I'm not familiar with the big-picture plans for this area, but I would hope it will be a public park with shoreline access, similar to the very popular Boulevard Park. thanks-
