Is Newport the best location for the smelter?

What would the process be to build all forms of transportation pertaining to the smelter?

What are the impacts for the city and surrounding areas with the new transportation?

How specifically will all material be transported to the smelter, and what levels of greenhouse gas emissions will come from this transportation?

How often will the materials be transported to and from the facility?

Will the facility ever be able to expand, and what will be the effects from the expansion?
