

Sheelagh Lynn

I live south of the proposed smelter site in Newport, WA. I grow a vegetable garden each year, and have fruit trees as well. I know that the pollutants from the smelter will affect air quality, and consequently my garden will suffer, and so will the food I feed my family. Can you prove to me that this will not be An ongoing concern year after year?