In the early 80's there was a fire in the Tacoma smelter smokestack and an additional accident which spread pollution across the area. The courts concluded that these events constituted "TOXIC TRESPASS." I am requesting baseline studies of forest, garden, and agricultural soils in Pend Oreille and Bonner counties.

There should be scientific interest in this study not only for foresters, gardeners, and farmers to understand the pollution damage to their land, but also to our Washington state agencies when liability issues are brought to court.
