

Patty English

The annihilation of our health, the air, water, wildlife, tourism, inland temperate rainforests and overall quality of life that this project would create is like killing us with a nuclear bomb, only slower and more painful. A smelter belongs somewhere unpopulated and industrial, not in one of last few unspoiled and fragile areas left in this country.