

Dottie Anderson

Wood burning in fireplaces and outdoor fire pits for the enjoyment of individuals is polluting our environment and is entirely unnecessary. Many people feel that because it is legal, that they have the right to adversely effect our health.