

Tim Ross

I would like to express my deepest concern to the negative cost benefits impacts that this will have on the citizens that reside in Washington State. The imposed requirements for electric utilities will require massive rate increases to end users that will make no difference to reducing GHG. Additionally, the Washington State economy will suffer dearly by driving even more businesses out of state which intern will increase unemployment in our state. The devastating effect on cost of living increases will be instantly realized to consumers as well. Please consider these negative impacts to the Washington State before moving forward with this legislation. Thank you and praying for wisdom for all of our state leaders.