

ROBERT MCKERCHER JR

Once again, the state seeks to take wealth (directly and indirectly) from the productive. If this is for a public good, then those whose wealth is being taken must be fairly compensated.

Otherwise, this is just theft, which is immoral.