The entirety of this "cap and trade" program is 100 percent ridiculous.

This rule only forces Washington State residents to pay the price for emissions released from overseas countries. You get China, India and Russia to conform to these regulations then we'll talk, but then these regulations won't be needed would they. Meanwhile, this is a huge waste of taxpayer money, $500 million is a lot that can go to stopping fentanyl from coming into this state, fixing the mental health crisis and making our streets safe by funding law enforcement. The hard-working taxpayers have given more than enough for fixing the roads, highways, and bridges that are a complete mess so I have no faith in Washington State government using my money for issues that need to be put on hold until the REAL issues are dealt with.
