

Nick Engelfried

I am writing in support of strong rules to achieve the Climate Commitment Act's goal of significantly reducing carbon emissions from our state. Like most Washingtonians, I have been personally affected by heat waves, severe fire seasons, and other extreme weather events over the last few years. I believe implementation of the CCA must include a firm cap on emissions that polluters are not allowed to surpass. I also believe funds raised from the cap-and-trade program should prioritize helping low-income communities make the transition to clean energy. Together, we can make Washington a leader on climate action that sets the standard for other states to follow.

Thank you for your time and consideration.