

Lorraine Hartmann

we need to save our planet and push each other and all entities to do the best they can, hard though it may be. That will save our planet; nothing else will.