

Dmitry Polyakovsky

Do NOT do this. Climate change is a serious issue but electric cars are not a magic solution. For one their manufacture requires large amounts of extremely toxic minerals. And while we can generate our electricity from hydro it is a big question whether we will be able to generate enough electricity to also power our cars.