

Rick Pratt

Please stop this ridiculous idea. Electric vehicles will never be right for everyone! The west coast has had rolling blackouts during periods of hi electricity consumption for years. We have nowhere near the generating capacity we need now, we certainly can't support millions more electric vehicles