

Tom Mains

We don't need to follow California or Western Washington ideas. They have no idea what electric vehicle problems will come about in rural Eastern Washington. We already are short on electricity and they want to remove are dams. Where is the additional electricity going to come from in twelve years? If you have an electric car how can you make a 5-600 mile trip without stopping to charge your car overnight? To many unanswered problems. I'm against this idea!