

Robert Dutton

WHEN a Cascadia Subduction Zone (CSZ) megaquake and tsunami event occurs (and it will), Grays Harbor County and Pacific County will be without electrical power likely for months (according to FEMA). Without having fossil-fuel run vehicles and heavy equipment, many thousands more people will die. EVs are good when trips are short and conditions are normal, but, smart government plans for the outlying events we KNOW will occur. Is the Dept of Ecology be willing to put politics over public safety?