

Charles Smith

The EV mandate and gasoline engine ban are unrealistic and unfair. It will cost billions to implement and will unfairly penalize rural communities and working families. The CEO of Toyota has publicly stated that the production goals to meet California's mandate cannot be met. Eliminating gasoline and diesel powered vehicles will not stop climate change.