

William Geloneck

It is difficult to experience the far-left, Democrat ideologues attempt to transform this state and country into something it was never meant to be. This is another way for them to restrict our freedoms and preach to us how we must live. However, none of them practice what they preach; i.e., we are the minions who must obey. Until some great and mysterious science frees us from fossil fuels (not wind, not solar), it is impractical to rely solely on electrical vehicles. Meanwhile, the Dems are ruining our economy through their hackneyed legislation. While America suffers under their eco-whims, China, India and other counties spew more pollutants into the atmosphere willy-nilly. Q: Where is all the electricity going to come from for the EVs after they put an overwhelming burden on the grid? California's ridiculous energy policies (electric use restrictions due to source shutdowns, etc.) is a perfect example of the Democrat's utopian nonsense. This type of ideology is ruining the economy by fueling inflation. This is another price we pay for poor leadership on the "Left Coast". The populous needs to wake up and stop voting these extremists into office.