This proposal is unfair to implement. as it will cause the middle class and poor high prices they can not afford. They are already raising prices on electricity and will cause a much higher raise in prices of electricity. The infrastructure already can't handel the usage as it is, just look at the system now. if a neighborhood is all having more than a few ev hooked up it blows the power grind in that area. this in my opinion is all about a few elect companies and politicians for reap Hugh amounts of profits. it is a pipe dream and needs to be seriously reconsidered. the present administration is spending ridiculous amounts of money we as citizens can not continue to afford.
