

Anonymous Anonymous

I am opposed to the new proposed regulations regarding gas powered vehicles. What or where is the objective impartial publicly verifiable scientific atmospheric evidence supporting these drastic draconian proposed new laws regarding gas vehicles? If passed, how will we provide the extreme increase in electric power demand to charge continually a million odd new electric vehicles? This seems more like a proposal to increase authoritarian government control over citizens, than having anything to do with the environment, global warming, air-pollution.

The citizens will organize and oppose these proposed new tyrannical regulations. Who can now afford a 60k electric car? We will all be forced to do what, if gas powered cars are prohibited? Something smells really rotten about these new law proposals against gas powered vehicles, we are on to you and watching you. These regulations are all about supporting and enriching the few elite special interest groups/corporations of the green (failed) energy movement, and enslaving the rest of us. You will cause chaos with these new regulations, but I guess that may be what you want.