

Stuart Smith

Please do not restrict Washington State to unproven standards. These new rules will harm businesses and individuals and make government less efficient and more expensive. Let others experiment. We then can learn from their mistakes and find out what really works without placing a burden on Washingtonians