

Robert Burr

Bravo. I applaud the goal and believe this is the minimum that is needed to have a chance of ameliorating the absolute disaster of global heating. Some of early timetables, however, may need to be tempered by the reality of the availability of charging station. The State does need to provide financial incentives as well since Federal incentives exclude the tax rebate for cars selling above a certain amount, which excludes most on the market today.