

Lance Wyllie

These unfunded mandates offer no benefit to Washingtonians. Electric cars are too expensive, take too long to charge, and do not have enough range to work in remote areas. In rural areas we often carry gas cans to extend range. That is impossible with an electric car.