

Ron Behrens

The EV mandate and gas engine ban are unrealistic and unfair, will cost billions to implement, and will unfairly penalize rural communities and working families.

MAYBE, a couple of decades from now after extreme research, a better solution can be found. A good case in point is California who implemented their Green policies before they had a supporting electrical grid and now are rationing. DO NOT IMPLEMENT this proposal!