

James Engle

This is an unrealistic expectation at this time, particularly when we are in recession and money is very tight. Our income is only Social Security at this time and an electric vehicle is totally unrealistic from a cost perspective. I must believe that this is true for many many people in Washington state. So my advice is be realistic.....