

JIM REDMON

We can't handle the power needed for EV cars and no one is looking at the foot print for what will happen to the batteries that come from the EV cars!! Please relook at the whole picture and figure out how all this can be accomplished in a longer time frame. Everyone is trying to do this in a time frame that won't work, all energy sources should be looked at and used again with a time frame that allows the infrastructure to change and grow with the need for differnt energy
