

David Ramsay

We all need a clear understanding of what the rules are going forward. These rules need to reflect the future, not the status quo. ACCII will help accelerate a quick, smooth and efficient transition to clean electric vehicles. By committing the state to a gasoline-free future, ACCII will help make affordable and economical EV's more available to all of us. It will save drivers billions on fuel and maintenance. Car makers can then make business decisions based on market certainty. It will diminish the air, water and climate pollution that disproportionately impacts people of color and low-income communities. We want clean cars by 2030!!