

Lisa Reising

I am 100% for these new regulations to cut carbon emissions through electric vehicles. And do this soon. Following California is important. My only concern is the infrastructure needed to charge the vehicles. I want to purchase an EV now but I do not have a drive way to my house for access to electrical outlet. What laws will be passed and how will it be affordable to establish electrical outlets in my parking strip? Thank you for focusing on this critical issue.