

John Underwood

This policy is very unrealistic and all it will do is penalize lower income families who live far from a charging station. It will cut thousands of jobs in the energy industry with doing little for the environment. When will all government vehicles be EV's ?Including the Presidents HUGE entourage when traveling by motorcade? How about planting some trees instead? Will we be getting our Lithium from Australia or a communist bloc country.?