

Richard Mayer

This makes no sense until they are affordable to middle and lower income people and there is a robust electric grid. if you have to give e tax credits EV,s are not competitive