

James Vanderbie

there is no emergency regarding the so called climate change. Regular people can not afford these silly electric cars. The earth is more damaged by the people digging up the rare earth items than by gas powered vehicles. The U.S. will suffer under such idiotic policies, while Russia and China and a few other countries laugh at us idiots.